No Foul Play Charged Yet By Observers

SAIGON (AP) — President Johnson's 22 election observers fanned out across South Vietnam today to inspect polling places and see as much as they could of the campaigning and the government's arrangements for Sunday's voting.

They arrived in Saigon Wednesday to join 60 other official guests of the Saigon government, from 23 nations, to watch the election for president, vice president and a 60-man Senate.

The American senators, governors, mayors, religious leaders, labor, business and news

Roundtown

MASS confusion at some intersections in the city was common early Thursday. Inoperative traffic lights caused more confusion to some motorists than they should have.

Miller Fissell, city safety director, said that lightning in the area last night caused the trouble. He said that all points in the lights were burned out and would be replaced sometime today.

A GOOD indication of the brisk temperatures which beset the Circleville area early this morning was the fact that Bill Stout, usually seen in the downtown area wearing shorts, was wearing long pants. Many shoppers were seen wearing sweaters. The weatherman said the official low was 55, but promised that the mercury would dip to the upper 40s tonight.

TOMATOES grow and grow and grow at 131 Walnut St. this year. Ralph Ward brought one of his largest, a Delicious variety, into The Herald office Wednesday. It weighed in at a mere 3 1/2 pounds, one-half pound smaller than the largest he grew last year. The season isn't over yet and perhaps Mr. Ward can beat his record, that is if the stems hold out under the tomatoes' tremendous weight.

FRESHMEN, seventh and eighth grade football candidates will be working at the Circleville High School Band Mothers' band and football preview Friday night. Boys are asked to assemble in the reserve locker room at the high school 6:30 p. m. Friday to receive further instructions.

CIRCLEVILLE schools will open Tuesday with an expected enrollment of 3,352, according to Superintendent Fritz Jacobs. When city schools closed in June there were 3,218 students enrolled. Majority of the increased enrollment is expected in kindergarten through the sixth grade. Records to date show anticipated enrollments of 1,978 for kindergarten through grade six; 744 in the junior high (grades 7-9); and 630 for the senior high (grades 10-12).

Former Miami Mayor Dies of Heart Attack

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Robert King High, 43, mayor of Miami for five terms, died Wednesday of a heart attack. High last year upset incumbent Gov. Haydon Burns for the Democratic nomination for governor but then was defeated by Claude Kirk, first Republican governor of Florida in 94 years. A native of Flat Creek, Tenn., High was first elected mayor in 1957. He was a lawyer.

Marshall To Become First Negro Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall, great-grandson of a slave and a longtime fighter for equal rights for Negroes, has won Senate confirmation as the nation's first Negro Supreme Court justice.

By a 69 to 11 margin, the Senate confirmed Wednesday President Johnson's nomination of Marshall, 57, who was for many years chief legal officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Marshall, currently U.S. solicitor general, will fill a high court vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Tom C. Clark, who stepped down when his son, Ramsey Clark, was named attorney general earlier this year.

Swearing in of Marshall is not expected until October, when the court reconvenes for its autumn term.

Marshall's overwhelming confirmation came in the face of charges by opponents—all from the South except Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.—that his seating would assure a lop-sided division of the court in favor of "ultra-liberal activists."

Opponents said this majority was bent on bending the Constitution to its will rather than interpreting its true intent.

But backers said Marshall brought a rare depth of experience to the bench and some forecast a surprise for those who believe Marshall's stance on crucial issues can be foretold in advance.

Marshall, a burly 6-foot 2-inches and 210 pounds, was the NAACP's chief counsel for 23 years and won 29 of 32 civil rights cases he argued before the high court—including the far-reaching 1954 school desegregation case.

Marshall twice before won Senate confirmation, in 1962 as a federal appeals court judge and in 1965 as solicitor general.

Strong Wind, Heavy Rain Slash Canton

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A garage was blown away and at least four houses were damaged in North Canton Wednesday night by winds which the Weather Bureau at Akron-Canton Airport said reached an estimated mile-a-minute.

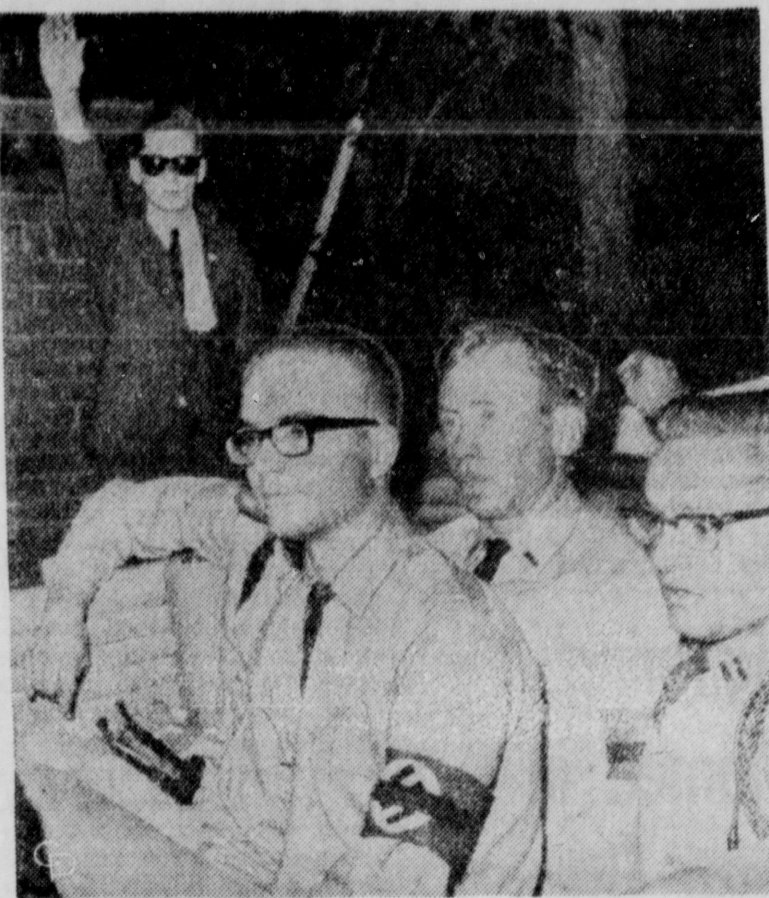

Heavy rains hit the area with the high winds shortly before 9 p.m. The Weather Bureau said 1.1 inches of rainfall was recorded at the airport and the fall was probably much heavier in the storm-center area.

A two-car garage at the home of William P. Yingling in North Canton was blown away and destroyed and one car inside it was damaged. Damage to residences was less severe, but many power lines and a few trees were blown down. No one was injured.

In southern Summit County lightning caused a fire at the home of Lester Adams in Green Township. And in northeastern Summit County a tree fell across the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at Twinsburg.

Flood Hits in Nevada

BEATTY, Nev. (AP) — Some 30 persons were homeless today after a flash flood roared through this southern Nevada desert town wrecking houses and cars and washing out roads.

ROCKWELL BODY UNBURIED — The U.S. Army has withdrawn permission for the American Nazi party to bury its slain leader, George Lincoln Rockwell, in a national cemetery in Culpepper, Va. The Army's decision came after a confrontation between military police and party followers (shown above) who insisted on wearing swastikas at the funeral.

Nazis Take Burial Case To Civil Liberties Union

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — The racist American Nazi party has turned to a civil liberties group in its bid to bury the cremated remains of slain commander George Lincoln Rockwell in a military cemetery.

Lawrence Speiser, director of the Northern Virginia chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, said his group has accepted a Nazi request and will seek a court injunction to force the Department of the Army to permit interment of Rockwell's remains in a national cemetery.

The ACLU often has waged civil rights court fights on behalf of Negroes—the primary targets, along with Jews, of Rockwell's racist harangues and tracts.

Rockwell's body was cremated Wednesday after, party spokesmen said, half a dozen cemeteries turned down requests for space in which to bury him. The Army originally granted permission for Rockwell, a former Navy commandeer, to be buried in Culpepper National Cemetery. But Army troops blocked the burial party from the Virginia cemetery Tuesday when party members refused orders to shed Nazi paraphernalia.

Wednesday's ceremonies contrasted sharply with the graveyard confrontation, when Nazis clashed briefly with the federal troops amid a horde of newsmen, cameramen and curious onlookers.

After the cremation—

British Seek Conference With Chinese

LONDON (AP) — Britain, hoping to keep its listening post in Peking and its hold on Hong Kong, sought today to avoid a total break with Red China by offering to discuss normalization of relations following violent incidents in Peking and London.

There was no detectable sign, however, that the British expected the Chinese to agree to a message suggesting talks.

The offer Wednesday cabled by British Foreign Secretary George Brown to Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi, was seen primarily as an effort to prevent a further deterioration in relations at a time when British officials feel a change in China's leadership may be near and want observers on the scene.

No one would say so officially, but British officials are known to feel that Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung's campaign to purge his enemies is heading toward a climax in which his authority may diminish.

U.S. Troop Strength Up 5,000 in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — American troop strength in Vietnam increased by 5,000 last week to 462,000, the U.S. Command announced today.

One of the new units arriving in the country was the 2nd Squadron, 1st Cavalry, from Ft. Hood, Tex., which disembarked from a troop ship at Qui Nhon, 275 miles northeast of Saigon.

The squadron of 833 men will join the U.S. 4th Infantry Division in the central highlands.

U.S., Soviets To Continue Nuclear Talks

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. and Soviet disarmament negotiators apparently will stay in Geneva until early October in a determined effort to complete a draft treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons for the U.S. General Assembly this year.

The assembly meets in September in New York but is not scheduled to take up disarmament until Oct. 20.

Communist sources at the 17-nation disarmament talks had indicated the Soviets would ask for a quick recess after last week's presentation by the two major powers of a draft treaty lacking an inspection section.

They said the Russians preferred to work privately with the United States, with a minimum of interference from other nations, on the missing section. These reports angered the eight nonaligned nations at the talks, diplomatic sources said, and the Russians decided to stay in Geneva on condition that U.S.-Soviet negotiations go on in strict secrecy.

Fire, Smog, Heat Hit California; Burbank Has 113

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern Californians were plagued today by brush fires, the worst smog since 1955 and stifling heat.

An estimated 11,000 acres of brushland was blackened by fires northeast of Los Angeles. One, near Piru, was burning fiercely in an oil field.

In downtown Los Angeles, the mercury climbed from 78—a record high minimum—to 100 degrees Wednesday.

Burbank to the north sweltered in 113 degrees.

The second highest smog reading of all time in Los Angeles County was recorded Wednesday. The ozone count at Azusa was 73 part per million parts of air.

Previously, the worst smog was the all-time high of .90 recorded at Vernon in 1955.

Fighting Renewed In Central China

HONG KONG (AP) — Savage fighting was reported today in Wuhan, central China's industrial complex where the forces of party Chairman Mao Tse-tung recently claimed victory in the nation's power struggle.

Other reports told of people fleeing cities of Szechwan Province in western China to avoid battles between Mao's supporters and foes. Travelers from Canton said a blood bath was expected in that southern metropolis.

It was impossible to evaluate all these reports, but they indicated that the struggle between Mao and supporters of his chief opponent, President Liu Shao-chi, may be rising in violence.

The report of renewed fighting in Wuhan, the Yangtze River complex of Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang in Hupeh Province, came from the Maoist provincial radio itself.

While the broadcast gave no details of the fighting, it demanded that Maoist leaders take effective action to halt the struggle. Peking claimed Aug. 12 that leaders loyal to Mao had been put in power in Wuhan.

Chinese Nationalist intelligence sources in Formosa said land, river and air transportation in Szechwan Province had been paralyzed by the fighting between Mao's backers and foes.

The sources said increasing numbers of people were fleeing from Chungking, China's wartime capital; Chentu, Szechwan's provincial capital; and other cities to escape the fighting. Like citizens in Canton, they were reported returning to their villages in the countryside. Previous reports had said two

Crash Hurts Navy Fliers At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Navy officers were injured when forced to crash land their RA5C Vigilante jet at Port Columbus Wednesday. The plane hit the end of a runway, bounced back into the air and then skidded about 250 feet into a field.

The two-man crew ejected from the cockpit. The pilot, Cmdr. Donald Brady, 45, of suburban Gahanna, and Lt. Donald L. Nesbitt, 29, Columbus, were admitted to St. Anthony Hospital.

A spokesman at the Port Columbus tower said Brady had radioed ahead that trouble had developed in the plane and he was approaching for an "engine out" landing.

Navy officials said the twin-engine jet was on a routine flight from Sanford, Fla., to North American Aviation here for repainting.

Brady was reported in fair condition with a left leg fracture and other injuries. Nesbitt suffered possible back injuries and was listed in satisfactory condition.

Highways Given Federal Money

OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP)—The 13-state Midwestern Governors' Conference ended Wednesday with a bit of good news on highway funds and passage of several resolutions backing up views expressed during the four-day session.

The good news came in a telegram from President Johnson, who told the group he had ordered immediate apportionment of $4.8 billion of highway funds for the next fiscal year.

The governors earlier had passed a resolution asking restoration of reduced federal highway funds and guidelines for future planning. Congress, the governors said, should restore a federal matching fund of $100 million to implement the highway safety act. The fund has been cut to $20 million.

Cities' Plight Most Vital, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy challenges the contention of Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine Corps commandant, that Vietnam is more important than the plight of U.S. cities.

"That's a mistake," the New York Democrat said in an interview. "President Johnson has said we can fight the war and still act on our problems at home."

"Our first priority should be to our own people. We are on the brink of the most serious crisis since the Civil War."

"It seems to me we are devoting all of the resources required to the war in Vietnam but we are not doing so in respect to our domestic problems. There is no question that we have not done what we should have done for the urban and rural poor."

Greene told the American Legion convention Wednesday in Boston that if the United States does not stop the Communists in their promotion of world revolution "then our domestic problems and our pocketbooks are going to become mighty important in the future."

The Marine Corps chief criticized what he said was an attitude of pessimism at home about the progress of the war. He said when he left Vietnam three weeks ago after his sixth visit there, "I left an atmosphere of optimism."

Peace Doubted In Yemen War

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Doubt was cast today on the effectiveness of a Yemen peace pact reached by Egypt and Saudi Arabia because they did not consult the warring Yemeni republican and royalist factions.

This came as the Arab summit meeting heard the first talk of a "political solution" with Israel. Summit sources said Presidential Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt in a closed session took a less belligerent stance toward Israel, victor in the June war.

Nasser also was the kingpin in the formula for ending the Yemeni civil war, promising to withdraw his forces from Yemen who had been supporting the republican regime. In return, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia agreed to halt military assistance to the royalists, who have been fighting the republicans for five years.

Fair Crowds Still Down; Big Squash Sets Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Records, records and more records.

That's been a sign of the Ohio State Fair so far and officials are still hopeful that the most important period of all will be broken — attendance.

But the latest record-breaker is the largest squash ever shown. Three times larger than a basketball, the 204-pound squash was grown by Frank Coon of Ashville.

Coon, a perennial winner of at least five categories in the pumpkin and squash show at Circleville's Pumpkin Show, still has almost 2 1/2 months of growing time left to produce a record-breaker for this year's Pumpkin Show.

Also Wednesday, Coon exhibited the largest pumpkin, 59 pounds, while Ernie Purdum of London showed the largest watermelon, 63 pounds.

Wednesday's attendance was 119,007, bringing the seven-day total to 930,449. Officials said they hoped to crack the million mark today. The total attendance however, is still lagging some 30,000 below the total for the first seven days of 1966.

A hard rain, accompanied by lightning and wind, failed to halt the fun Wednesday night. Fairgoers scattered into tents and buildings — but a jam-packed crowd in the grandstand sat through the hour-long rain as Herb Alpert and his Tijuana Brass went on with the show.

Fairgrounds officials reported there was no major damage as a result of the storm.

The Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame held its second annual program honoring Ohio agricultural leaders. Honored Wednesday were Carl R. Arnold, a leader in establishing the Farm Credit Administration; David W. Galehouse, one of the first to further hybrid seed corn; and Harry C. Ramsower, director emeritus of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service.

The New Vaudeville Band, Herb Alpert and Bill and Boyd will be the main attractions in the grandstand today.

"LIKE SITTING DUCKS" — That's how this panel of firefighters described their men to a Senate hearing on racial violence in big cities. The officials urged a special federal law to protect firemen from snipers, rock throwers and bottle tossers. They are (from left) Edward Hall, Newark; Robert Welsh, Cincinnati; Earl Berry, Detroit; James Neelon, Cleveland; Albert Albertoni, leader of the group and Leonard Kershner, Bridgeport, Conn.

No Foul Play Charged Yet By Observers

They arrived in Saigon Wednesday to join 60 other official guests of the Saigon government, from 23 nations, to watch the election for president, vice president and a 60-man Senate.

The American senators, governors, mayors, religious leaders, labor, business and news executives received a briefing from U.S. Ambassador Ells-orth Bunker and other U.S. officials and then split up for trips into the provinces.

The group includes both supporters and critics of the President's Vietnam policies.

All of the 22 observers said they were satisfied with what they saw in helicopter visits to provinces ranging from the Mekong delta to the embattled 1st Corps area in the North.

But few were prepared to comment on charges that the elections were being unduly influenced by the Vietnamese military whose candidates, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu and Air Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, are expected to win.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey said he was "preliminarily impressed with the scope of the safeguards I have seen so far, but I have not seen enough to make a flat judgment."

Whitney Young, president of the Urban League, was visiting Binh Duong Province 30 miles north of Saigon with Hughes. He said he didn't get the impression that local officials "are going all out to get the people to vote for the military ticket."

Oregon Gov. Thomas L. McCall, on a visit to Kien Phong Province 50 miles southwest of Saigon, said: "I am pleased with what I have seen—the technicalities of setting up the election procedures. But I don't know that we could begin to make a concrete judgment on the fairness of the election. Now—or ever."

North Dakota Gov. William L. Guy, one of five observers arriving in Da Nang, was asked if the observers would be qualified to judge the election after such a brief stay in Vietnam.

"Most of who have been in politics for 10, 15 or 20 years think we are capable," he replied. "We are capable of getting the feel of the election."

Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., and Joseph Scerra of Gardner, Mass., commander-elect of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said they were impressed by the government's arrangements for the election.

"I look forward to a successful election," Murphy said. "It will not be unlike an election in Beverly Hills."

Mental Case Charged in Fair Shooting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus patrolman was shot in the back at the Ohio State Fair Wednesday by a Columbus State Hospital patient who somehow managed to take the officer's gun from him, police reported.

Patrolman Thomas Aurentz, who was working extra duty, was listed in satisfactory condition at University Hospital.

Police said Aurentz had arrested the patient, Wayne Fant, 44, on an intoxication charge. After being handcuffed, Fant began wrestling with Aurentz and grabbed the policeman's .38 caliber service revolver from his holster, police said.

Fant also was charged with assault with intent to kill. Police said he was visiting the fair with other patients from the hospital.

Travelers from Canton said anti-Maoists there were openly boasting that they "would bathe Canton in the blood of Red Guards," the teen-agers Mao entrusted with spearheading his struggle against Liu's backers.

The various travelers had conflicting stories about the role of the Red army in Canton. One group said the army had distributed thousands of rifles to city residents to use against "anti-Mao bandits."

Other travelers said the army in Canton was backing the anti-Maoists while the navy and air force units remained loyal to Mao.

Storm Nears Hurricane Force Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical Storm Arlene, her winds approaching hurricane velocity, churned slowly across the Atlantic today and harassed shipping lanes far from land.

Forecasters said the storm, still centered more than 2,000 miles east of Miami, had top winds of better than 60 miles an hour. But they said Arlene seemed certain to reach hurricane force sometime today.

The storm's poorly defined path was checked out Wednesday by planes, ship sightings and satellite pictures.

At 6 a.m. Arlene was about 1,200 miles southeast of Bermuda, moving toward the west northwest at about 15 miles an hour. She was centered near Latitude 22.5 north and Longitude 49.0 west.

"It seems to me we are devoting all of the resources required to the war in Vietnam but we are not doing so in respect to our domestic problems. There is no question that we have not done what we should have done for the urban and rural poor."

Greene told the American Legion convention Wednesday in Boston that if the United States does not stop the Communists in their promotion of world revolution "then our domestic problems and our pocketbooks are going to become mighty important in the future."

The Marine Corps chief criticized what he said was an attitude of pessimism at home about the progress of the war. He said when he left Vietnam three weeks ago after his sixth visit there, "I left an atmosphere of optimism."

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., a leading Johnson policy supporter on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in another interview he thinks Americans are entirely too pessimistic.

Peace Doubted In Yemen War

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Doubt was cast today on the effectiveness of a Yemen peace pact reached by Egypt and Saudi Arabia because they did not consult the warring Yemeni republican and royalist factions.

This came as the Arab summit meeting heard the first talk of a "political solution" with Israel. Summit sources said Presidential Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt in a closed session took a less belligerent stance toward Israel, victor in the June war.

Nasser also was the kingpin in the formula for ending the Yemeni civil war, promising to withdraw his forces from Yemen who had been supporting the republican regime. In return, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia agreed to halt military assistance to the royalists, who have been fighting the republicans for five years.

Communists Hitting Hard; 2 Planes Lost

SAIGON (AP)—Communist guerrillas dotted South Vietnam with pre-election assaults and terror attacks today, shelling a fourth provincial capital in as many days and kidnapping 39 draft-age men in another village.

With Sunday's presidential election only three days off, officials warned that worse Red violence was expected. Americans off duty were warned to stay in their billets.

U. S. Command announced the loss of two more warplanes over North Vietnam, maintaining a recent loss rate of more than one plane a day.

The weekly casualty report reflected the current lull in ground fighting, with 125 Americans killed last week and 1,078 wounded. Both totals were up slightly from the previous week but were below the average of recent months.

Communist losses were 1,350, also below average, while the South Vietnamese had 101 killed and 367 wounded, well below the American figures and reflecting the increased role of U. S. troops in Vietnam.

The latest terrorist attacks were scattered through the Mekong Delta, the Saigon area and the central provinces. The guerrillas were generally lying low in the far north after spectacular attacks Tuesday in which two dozen hit-and-run strikes were made and 997 prisoners were freed from the provincial jail at Quang Ngai.

Two American Army advisers and a U. S. government civilian employee were killed south of Quang Ngai when guerrillas caught two platoons of militiamen in a crossfire as they were trying to recapture some of the freed prisoners. A crewman of a U. S. rescue helicopter also was wounded, but the Viet Cong slipped away when Vietnamese army reinforcements arrived.

The fourth provincial capital hit this week was the normally sleepy town of Phan Thiet, on the coast about 95 miles east of Saigon. Mortar shells began to fall at 1:30 a.m., and when the 15-round barrage ended a small child was dead and 11 civilians were wounded. About the same time a band of guerrillas entered the village of Cua Doi, 288 miles north of Saigon, and carried off 39 young men at gunpoint. The normal Communist tactic is to indoctrinate such captives and put them in Viet Cong units.

Janet Collins Runner-up as Ohio Teenager

MISS JANET COLLINS

Miss Janet Collins, 16-year-old Logan Elm High School Junior, won fourth runner-up in the Miss Ohio Teenager pageant held at Idora Amusement Park, Youngstown, Sunday night.

Miss Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Collins, Route 1, Kingston, is 5-feet 6-inches tall and weighs 115 pounds. Her measurements are 36-24-36.

In high school she is a varsity cheerleader, majorette, band member (pep, concert and marching), member of the Girls Athletic Association, year book staff, and has been active in other school clubs and activities. Janet represented her sophomore class last fall as football homecoming attendant.

She entered the preliminaries at Chillicothe High School, July 13. At this time she was given a job modeling for J. C. Penny Department Store in the Chillicothe Mall and a job on Chillicothe's Telecom TV station as Teen Board Member. She modeled back-to-college fashions at the Ross County Fair.

Competing with 69 other contestants, most of whom were finalists from around the state, Miss Collins was judged on beauty of face and figure, poise, personality, scholastic achievement, community leadership and service.

Ohio is sending only three girls this year to the national pageant, compared to twelve last year. This includes one Chinese, one Negro and one white girl (Miss Worthington) who is Miss Ohio Teenager. The queen was crowned by Miss American Teenager, Rebecca Alkire, a former Logan Elm High School student.

Lightning Blamed in Barn Fire

A barn filled with hay and containing 35 hogs was struck by lightning Wednesday night and burned to the ground while two companies of firefighters battled the blaze.

Ashville - Harrison Twp. and Hamilton Twp. fire departments answered the alarm on the property of Chester Reese, Route 2, Ashville. Control of the fire was gained about 4 a. m.

The combination corn crib, hog shed and cattle chute contained 35 tons of hay, 35 hogs and eight pigs. Officials stated a door in back of the barn was open and the animals may have escaped.

The barn and contents were insured. No cost estimate of damage was set by fire fighters.

simiste about Vietnam. "We need confidence and patience," he said. "We not only are going to win the war but we are winning it now. No military expert I have talked to has given me any contrary report."

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., critic of the Saigon military regime, said there is growing unrest in this country "based on a realization that our real objectives in South Vietnam are not appreciably nearer attainment than they have been during all the many years of our involvement."

And Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., proposed in a speech to the Legion convention that military leaders be directed to develop a "war-ending plan" for the use of ground, naval and air power "necessary to win as quickly as possible and bring our men home."

"I see no prospect of early success under a policy of applying military pressure in a limited, gradual and piecemeal fashion," Stennis said. "We must face up to an unpleasant job and get it over with."

Kennedy said he had no reason to change his opinion that Sunday's South Vietnamese elections will be a fraud. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said earlier the poll-watching mission of 22 prominent Americans sent to Saigon by Johnson "can't amount to a damn."

Aiken told an interviewer that appointment of the group was "a long shot on the part of the President to bolster his position" that the elections would be conducted fairly.

But Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, said he is encouraged "by the progress which has been made toward a representative government in South Vietnam." He said in a statement the Sunday elections should not be written off as a fraud.

Deaths

INFANT THOMAS Master Tom J. Thomas Jr., 2½ months, died 5:30 a. m. Thursday at his residence, 1220 S. Pickaway St.

Born June 11, 1967, he was the son of Airman Second Class Tom J. Thomas, who is stationed in Germany and Juanita Maley Thomas.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by Mader Funeral Home.

DAUTIE MARIE LEACH Mrs. Dautie Marie Leach, Amanda, died Tuesday in Columbus. She was 42.

A member of the Cedar Hill EUB Church, she is survived by her husband, the Rev. James Leach.

Other survivors include two sons, Orville H. and James W. Leach; one daughter, Mrs. Paul Branson; her mother, Mrs. Hazel Shannon; one brother, William Shannon; four sisters, Mrs. Muriel Watson, Mrs. Ralph Lewis, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Maurice Higgins, and six grandchildren.

Services will be 2 p. m. Friday in the South High EUB Church, Columbus. Burial will be in Green Lawn Cemetery.

Friends may call 2-4 p. m. and 7-9 p. m. Thursday at the Graumlich Funeral Home, Columbus.

Hit-Skip Case Heard in Court

A Lockbourne youth who drove away from an accident in which he was involved, was handed a $75 fine in Circleville Municipal Court Wednesday.

Edward Rodd Jr., 19, was involved in the accident Monday. Acting Judge Harry Margulis suspended $25 of the fine and ordered Rodd to pay court costs. Six other motorists residing outside Pickaway County were cited into court for traffic violations and forfeited fines of $119.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., critic of the Saigon military regime, said there is growing unrest in this country "based on a realization that our real objectives in South Vietnam are not appreciably nearer attainment than they have been during all the many years of our involvement."

Elderly Man Likes Water For Sleeping

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Fess Abell gives lifeguards fits if they don't know him.

He has a habit of going to sleep in the water.

"No great problem," says the 83-year-old Abell. "I just relax like I'm in bed, breathe deep and natural and pretty soon I'm sound asleep."

"I have slept so hard that someone had to splash my face with water to wake me up."

"It's really great."

Abell also can float vertically in 15 feet of water and claims to be able to float in any position.

The former YMCA worker says he taught an estimated 25,000 people to swim in his 65 years of instructions.

He says that relaxation and natural breathing are the secrets of floating.

Missing Person Report Is Filed

A missing person report has been filed in the Circleville Police Dept. concerning a city resident who has been missing for more than a week.

Goldie Blankenship, 520 E. Union St., told police that a roomer of hers, Jasper Poling, 47, has been gone for two weeks. Miss Blankenship said that Poling did not take any of his possessions with him.

He was last seen 7:30 a. m. Aug. 21, when he left for work.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—A policeman in a patrol car in Seattle, Wash., can ask his dispatcher if a car with out-of-state license plates has been stolen and get an answer from the FBI in Washington within 90 seconds.

It's done with the bureau's new computer which can begin spewing out crime data within 15 seconds from the time a message from a law enforcement agency is fed into its memory banks.

Currently, the FBI says, there are 260,000 active records on file in the computer, including 115,000 on stolen vehicles and license plates, 95,000 on stolen guns, 30,000 on stolen articles and 20,000 on fugitives. The computer is connected to 20 out-of-state terminals which permit local agencies to file their questions directly with the computer.

In operation since Jan. 27, the computer handles about 10,000 queries daily.

WASHINGTON (AP)—"This seems to have been a very good week," said a smiling President Johnson.

Johnson—turning aside from reports of a plunging popularity rating—cited some of the recent items of good news at a speech in the White House rose garden.

They include, he said, agreement with the Soviet Union on the wording of a proposed treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons, an international monetary exchange agreement and a cordial meeting with West German Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Newsman generally performed admirably during this summer's riots in American cities, says Sen. Warren G. Magnuson.

Some television and radio newsmen, however, failed to make sure "their reporting did not inflame an already explosive situation," the Washington Democrat told the Senate.

He said too much attention to "having rabble-rousers" and attempts to "add tension, drama and fury" to broadcast reports were not in the interests of the public or the news industry.

"But over the long haul," Magnuson said, "if we are to recognize defects in our national life and remedy them, there is no alternative to disclosure as complete as the freely competing news media can make it."

Capital Footnotes

Civilians working for federal executive agencies in July totaled 3,012,387, or 33,228 more than in June, reports Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of a joint Senate-House committee on federal expenditures. The civilian payroll for fiscal 1967, ended June 30, totaled $20.49 billion. This is $1.79 billion higher than a year earlier.

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee says the American Bankers Association has "gone on strike against students" because many lending institutions have stopped making loans under the Student Guaranty Loan program. The Texas Democrat said many banks want more money to provide the service.

Capital Quote

"Unfortunately, they beat us to it. It's a totally depressing, unhappy mess."—Robert Rockwell, brother of slain American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell, after Nazi party members, turned away from a military cemetery, had the body cremated and held a private service. Loan Funds Approved For 3 Ohio Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence E. Miller, R-Ohio, announced Thursday the approval of more than $455,000 in federal funds for establishment and continuation of National Defense Student Loan programs at three Ohio colleges.

He said the money will help some 1,200 students. Ohio University will receive the largest share, $328,518 for 900 students; Marietta College will receive $104,492 for 248 students, and Rio Grande College in Gallia County will receive $22,959 for 70 students.

Lightning Blamed in Barn Fire

A barn filled with hay and containing 35 hogs was struck by lightning Wednesday night and burned to the ground while two companies of firefighters battled the blaze.

Ashville-Harrison Twp. and Hamilton Twp. fire departments answered the alarm on the property of Chester Reese, Route 2, Ashville. Control of the fire was gained about 4 a. m.

The combination corn crib, hog shed and cattle chute contained 35 tons of hay, 35 hogs and eight pigs. Officials stated a door in back of the barn was open and the animals may have escaped.

The barn and contents were insured. No cost estimate of damage was set by fire fighters.

Hit-Skip Case Heard in Court

A Lockbourne youth who drove away from an accident in which he was involved, was handed a $75 fine in Circleville Municipal Court Wednesday.

Edward Rodd Jr., 19, was involved in the accident Monday. Acting Judge Harry Margulis suspended $25 of the fine and ordered Rodd to pay court costs.

Six other motorists residing outside Pickaway County were cited into court for traffic violations and forfeited fines of $119.

(Continued from Page 1) simists about Vietnam. "We need confidence and patience," he said. "We not only are going to win the war but we are winning it now. No military expert I have talked to has given me any contrary report."

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., critic of the Saigon military regime, said there is growing unrest in this country "based on a realization that our real objectives in South Vietnam are not appreciably nearer attainment than they have been during all the many years of our involvement."

And Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., proposed in a speech to the Legion convention that military leaders be directed to develop a "war-ending plan" for the use of ground, naval and air power "necessary to win as quickly as possible and bring our men home."

"I see no prospect of early success under a policy of applying military pressure in a limited, gradual and piecemeal fashion," Stennis said. "We must face up to an unpleasant job and get it over with."

Kennedy said he had no reason to change his opinion that Sunday's South Vietnamese elections will be a fraud. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said earlier the poll-watching mission of 22 prominent Americans sent to Saigon by Johnson "can't amount to a damn."

Aiken told an interviewer that appointment of the group was "a long shot on the part of the President to bolster his position" that the elections would be conducted fairly.

But Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, said he is encouraged "by the progress which has been made toward a representative government in South Vietnam." He said in a statement the Sunday elections should not be written off as a fraud.

Elderly Man Likes Water For Sleeping

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Fess Abell gives lifeguards fits if they don't know him.

He has a habit of going to sleep in the water.

"No great problem," says the 83-year-old Abell. "I just relax like I'm in bed, breathe deep and natural and pretty soon I'm sound asleep."

"I have slept so hard that someone had to splash my face with water to wake me up."

"It's really great."

Abell also can float vertically in 15 feet of water and claims to be able to float in any position.

The former YMCA worker says he taught an estimated 25,000 people to swim in his 65 years of instructions.

He says that relaxation and natural breathing are the secrets of floating.

Missing Person Report Is Filed

A missing person report has been filed in the Circleville Police Dept. concerning a city resident who has been missing for more than a week.

Goldie Blankenship, 520 E. Union St., told police that a roomer of hers, Jasper Poling, 47, has been gone for two weeks. Miss Blankenship said that Poling did not take any of his possessions with him.

He was last seen 7:30 a. m. Aug. 21, when he left for work.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP)—A policeman in a patrol car in Seattle, Wash., can ask his dispatcher if a car with out-of-state license plates has been stolen and get an answer from the FBI in Washington within 90 seconds.

It's done with the bureau's new computer which can begin spewing out crime data within 15 seconds from the time a message from a law enforcement agency is fed into its memory banks.

Currently, the FBI says, there are 260,000 active records on file in the computer, including 115,000 on stolen vehicles and license plates, 95,000 on stolen guns, 30,000 on stolen articles and 20,000 on fugitives. The computer is connected to 20 outside terminals which permit local agencies to file their questions directly with the computer.

In operation since Jan. 27, the computer handles about 10,000 queries daily.

WASHINGTON (AP)—"This seems to have been a very good week," said a smiling President Johnson.

Johnson—turning aside from reports of a plunging popularity rating—cited some of the recent items of good news at a speech in the White House rose garden.

They include, he said, agreement with the Soviet Union on the wording of a proposed treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons, an international monetary exchange agreement and a cordial meeting with West German Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Newsmen generally performed admirably during this summer's riots in American cities, says Sen. Warren G. Magnuson.

Some television and radio newsmen, however, failed to make sure "their reporting did not inflame an already explosive situation," the Washington Democrat told the Senate.

He said too much attention to "raving rabble-rousers" and attempts to "add tension, drama and fury" to broadcast reports were not in the interests of the public or the news industry.

"But over the long haul," Magnuson said, "if we are to recognize defects in our national life and remedy them, there is no alternative to disclosure as complete as the freely competing news media can make it."

Capital Footnotes

Civilians working for federal executive agencies in July totaled 3,012,387, or 33,228 more than in June, reports Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of a joint Senate-House committee on federal expenditures. The civilian payroll for fiscal 1967, ended June 30, totaled $20.49 billion. This is $1.79 billion higher than a year earlier.

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee says the American Bankers Association has "gone on strike against students" because many lending institutions have stopped making loans under the Student Guarantee Loan program. The Texas Democrat said many banks want more money to provide the service.

Capital Quote

"Unfortunately, they beat us to it. It's a totally depressing, unhappy mess."—Robert Rockwell, brother of slain American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell, after Nazi party members, turned away from a military cemetery, had the body cremated and held a private service. The family had sought private cremation and services.

Loan Funds Approved For 3 Ohio Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence E. Miller, R-Ohio, announced Thursday the approval of more than $455,000 in federal funds for establishment and continuation of National Defense Student Loan programs at three Ohio colleges.

He said the money will help some 1,200 students. Ohio University will receive the largest share, $328,578 for 900 students; Marietta College will receive $104,492 for 248 students, and Rio Grande College in Gallia County will receive $22,959 for 70 students.

The UN at Expo '67

The United Nations pavilion at EXPO is in danger of being forced to close its doors because it cannot keep up with expenses. It is estimated it will need a minimum of $250,000 to keep it open for the rest of the season.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MARGARET HARD, proprietor of the exemplary Johnny Appleseed Bookshop in Vermont, tells about her Uncle Edward, who made frequent trips abroad and never failed to bring back for her a pair of white kid gloves. On every occasion Miss Hard would exclaim, "Oh, Uncle Edward, what beautiful gloves! But these are size five and a half, and I wear a six." And each time Uncle Edward would answer disapprovingly, "No Vermont LADY, Margaret, wears a glove larger than size five and a half."

When Israeli troops scored their recent incredibly swift victory over the Egyptians in the Sinai desert, they captured over 200 truckloads of food and supplies left behind by the fleeing enemy. Part of the booty was an enormous quantity of non-kosher corned beef. "Officially, we can't eat it," explained a glib, grinning Israeli non-com, "but you'd be surprised at the amount of unofficial eating indulged in by this army!"

That 34-million-dollar Arch in St. Louis, symbolizing the city's claim to be "the gateway to the West" and supposed to be finished in 1964, is, what with one thing and another, not quite completed yet. Meanwhile, since the Arch looks something like a huge wicket, wags are calling St. Louis the "Wicket City."

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

In an effort to remind county motorists to drive carefully, the Jaycees placed a wrecked auto in front of the courthouse.

The Circleville Parking Lot Corp. purchased the Kohseier property on W. Franklin St. to increase off-street parking facilities.

The last of the Grand Theatre fell to the ground as progress once again conquered tradition.

TEN YEARS AGO

Circleville residents were finding "iced tea colored" water coming from the faucets in their homes, because an increase in the amount of water flowing through the city's pipes "scoured the rust off."

Jack Webb was starring in "The D. I." at the Grand Theatre.

Something new was added to the practice sessions of the CHS

Tigers as the Stooze Club purchased a seven-man blocking sled.

Corn cutters from West Virginia and Kentucky flocked into the area looking for work.

Nearly 400 pheasants from near Urbana were distributed to Pickaway County farmers by the local conservation officer.

Proprietors of the Grand Theatre dared patrons to sit through their twin-horror show, "The Mad Monster" and "The Strangler."

As Confucius Said

John Chamberlain

"So what else is new?" asked the Old China Hand, putting aside the newspaper account of the indignities visited upon the British at their Embassy in Peking.

The Old China Hand didn't really want an answer. He knew there is never anything new about China, where Confucius presumably coined the cliché about history repeating itself. Hardly pausing for breath, the Old China Hand launched into a disquisition on China, then and now.

"You want parallels," he said, "and I'm the one to give them to you. When Mao Tse-tung closed the schools and enlisted the teen-agers in the Red Guards in order to give fits to his enemies, it wasn't anything very strange for China. Mao was just taking a page from the book of Tzu Hsi, the old Manchu dowager empress. That old she-dragon had her Red Guards back in the days of the Boxer Rebellion, which happened just sixty-seven years ago this August. She enlisted a lot of local rowdies in the militia, hopped them up with a belief that good Chinese magic made them invulnerable to bullets, and put them to work supporting the secret society of the Boxers, who were ordered to kill any foreign devil they could grab. The Boxers, incidentally, got their name from the Chinese ideograph which can be roughly translated as Righteous and Harmonious Fists. Cassius Clay would understand."

Well, sir, you know all about the way the Boxers tore the Peking foreign legations apart. Just like the attacks on the Soviet Embassy compound and the beating of the British diplomats in Peking today. It was worse in 1900, for a lot of Christian missionaries — they used to call them 'secondary foreign devils' — got killed, and the German Minister was murdered. But the only reason for the difference between August of 1900 and August of 1967 in Peking is that there aren't many foreign devils left today on the mainland.

"Speaking of parallels, Mao Tse-tung is very much like the old dowager empress in insisting on his own deification. The empress thought she was at least a demigod. She had no real right to rule, for her nephew was the actual Emperor. But as the First Imperial Ancestress in China she arrogated to herself the right to keep her nephew locked up. She was the boss, and if she had gone for a swim in the Yangtze everybody in China would have taken to the water in her honor."

"The parallel between then and now in China is that the dowager empress couldn't really control her country from Peking. Mao might reflect on this a bit. He is at odds with Liu Shao-chi, the President of Red China, but he hasn't dared cut off Liu's head for fear of hastening the rebellion that has started in the provinces. Liu's strange inviolability isn't new. It's as it was in the early day of the Chinese Republic, when the last Emperor of China, Henry Pu Yi, was permitted to go on living in Peking."

"There's a parallel, too, between the British reaction to an attempted abasement back in the Eighteen Sixties and their response to the continuing efforts of the Red Guards to make them eat crow in Peking today. A hundred years ago the British envoy refused to kowtow to the Chinese when they insisted that he rub his forehead in the dirt three times in homage to a superior Middle Kingdom emperor. The Chinese thought they could put one over on the British diplomat by constructing a very low arch at the Jehol Summer Palace and forcing him to crawl under the arch to address the Emperor. The British refused, just as his modern counterparts have refused to accept Chinese demand for physical abasement in Peking. But the Chinese demand for kowtowing hasn't changed."

"Since the western countries have decided that colonialism isn't worth the candle, there won't be any foreign troops marching on Peking today to lift any siege of the embassies. But Mao is going to get it in the neck from the rest of China, just as the dowager empress got it more than fifty years ago. You wait and see. "As Confucius said, the more it changes in China, the more it's the same thing. And any time you want some more parallels, my boy, just come to me."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have been advised to have cobalt treatment for a cancer of the cervix of my womb. I have been told that this is too dangerous a form of treatment. I would like to know if you have had any experience with cobalt?

Mrs. D. L. Georgia
Dear Mrs. L.: Cancers of the cervix of the uterus have been successfully treated with surgery and with cobalt radiation treatment. In fact, there are few happier statistics than those reported with successful cures of this form of cancer, especially when it is found early and treated early.

Cobalt radiation treatment is a form of X-ray treatment that has technical advantages over the usual conventional types. There is no greater reason for concern about cobalt than there is for any other method.

You have been told that this is too "dangerous" a form of treatment. Can I guess who told it to you? Could it be a "kind" friend or the butcher, baker or candlestick maker? Can you match their unsolicited "consultation" with those of the doctor who suggested it? It really is a little absurd to predicate your health and happiness on the indefinite "they" who practice their own untrained "form of medicine" without benefit of license.

Yes, I have had experience with cobalt when it was used in many cases of cancer of the larynx after surgery. The results are sometimes startling as lifesavers. As I told you in my personal letter, the cobalt treatment should start as soon as your doctor arranges for it.

Recently, we lost a member of our family. There were all sorts of rumors about how contagious his illness was and everyone in the family was taking sulfa drugs for fear of contracting an illness we knew nothing about. It was called Waterhouse - Friderichsen. We have not been able to get any information about this condition and need your assurance.

Mrs. R.A.B., West Virginia
Dear Mrs. B.: Waterhouse-Friderichsen is not a disease in itself but rather a hemorrhage into the adrenal gland. This gland is part of the important regulating system of the hormones of the body.

The fact that you have been taking sulfa drugs, undoubtedly at the suggestion of your doctor, means that the underlying cause for the W.F. complication was probably an infection.

Had your doctor felt that the rest of the family needed isolation from contagion, he most certainly would have arranged for it. The likelihood is that all of you have been protected adequately against the severe infection that was fatal to your relative.

It is completely understandable that when people are at such a low ebb after a calamity in the family that they would be more frightened than ever. Reassurance from your doctor and the safety precautions that he took should bring a sense of security to all of you.

MARGARET HARD, proprietor of the exemplary Johnny Appleseed Bookshop in Vermont, tells about her Uncle Edward, who made frequent trips abroad and never failed to bring back for her a pair of white kid gloves. On every occasion Miss Hard would exclaim, "Oh, Uncle Edward, what beautiful gloves! But these are size five and a half, and I wear a six." And each time unflinching Uncle Edward would answer disapprovingly, "No Vermont LADY, Margaret, wears a glove larger than size five and a half."

When Israeli troops scored their recent incredibly swift victory over the Egyptians in the Sinai desert, they captured over 200 truckloads of food and supplies left behind by the fleeing enemy. Part of the booty was an enormous quantity of non-kosher corned beef. "Officially, we can't eat it," explained a glib, grinning Israeli non-com, "but you'd be surprised at the amount of unofficial eating indulged in by this army!"

That 34-million-dollar Arch in St. Louis, symbolizing the city's claim to be "the gateway to the West" and supposed to be finished in 1964, is, what with one thing and another, not quite completed yet. Meanwhile, since the Arch looks something like a huge wicket, wags are calling St. Louis the "Wicket City."

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO
In an effort to remind county motorists to drive carefully, the Jaycees placed a wrecked auto in front of the courthouse.

THE CIRCLEVILLE PARKING LOT
The Circleville Parking Lot Corp. purchased the Kohleiser property on W. Franklin St. to increase off-street parking facilities.

TIGERS AS THE STOOGES

TEN YEARS AGO
Circleville residents were finding "iced tea colored" water coming from the faucets in their homes, because an increase in the amount of water flowing through the city's pipes "scoured the rust off."

As Confucius Said

John Chamberlain

"So what else is new?" asked the Old China Hand, putting aside the newspaper account of the indignities visited upon the British at their Embassy in Peking.

The Old China Hand didn't really want an answer. He knew there is never anything new about China, where Confucius presumably coined the cliché about history repeating itself. Hardly pausing for breath, the Old China Hand launched into a disquisition on China, then and now.

"You want parallels," he said, "and I'm the one to give them to you. When Mao Tse-tung closed the schools and enlisted the teen-agers in the Red Guards in order to give fits to his enemies, it wasn't anything very strange for China. Mao was just taking a page from the book of Tzu Hsi, the old Manchu dowager empress. That old she-dragon had her Red Guards back in the days of the Boxer Rebellion, which happened just sixty-seven years ago this August. She enlisted a lot of local rowdies in the militia, hopped them up with a belief that good Chinese magic made them invulnerable to bullets, and put them to work supporting the secret society of the Boxers, who were ordered to kill any foreign devil they could grab. The Boxers, incidentally, got their name from the Chinese ideograph which can be roughly translated as Righteous and Harmonious Fists. Cassius Clay would understand."

Well, sir, you know all about the way the Boxers tore the Peking foreign legations apart. Just like the attacks on the Soviet Embassy compound and the beating of the British diplomats in Peking today. It was worse in 1900, for a lot of Christian missionaries — they used to call them 'secondary foreign devils' — got killed, and the German Minister was murdered. But the only reason for the difference between August of 1900 and August of 1967 in Peking is that there aren't many foreign devils left today on the mainland. "Speaking of parallels, Mao Tse-tung is very much like the old dowager empress in insisting on his own deification. The empress thought she was at least a demigod. She had no real right to rule, for her nephew was the actual Emperor. But as the First Imperial Ancestress in China she arrogated to herself the right to keep her nephew locked up. She was the boss, and if she had gone for a swim in the Yangtze everybody in China would have taken to the water in her honor."

"The parallel between then and now in China is that the dowager empress couldn't really control her country from Peking. Mao might reflect on this a bit. He is at odds with Liu Shao-chi, the President of Red China, but he hasn't dared cut off Liu's head for fear of hastening the rebellion that has started in the provinces. Liu's strange inviolability isn't new. It's as it was in the early day of the Chinese Republic, when the last Emperor of China, Henry Pu Yi, was permitted to go on living in Peking."

"There's a parallel, too, between the British reaction to an attempted abasement back in the Eighteen Sixties and their response to the continuing efforts of the Red Guards to make them eat crow in Peking today. A hundred years ago the British envoy refused to kowtow to the Chinese when they insisted that he rub his forehead in the dirt three times in homage to a superior Middle Kingdom emperor. The Chinese thought they could put one over on the British diplomat by constructing a very low arch at the Jehol Summer Palace and forcing him to crawl under the arch to address the Emperor. The Britisher refused, just as his modern counterparts have refused to accept Chinese demand for physical abasement in Peking. But the Chinese demand for kowtowing hasn't changed."

"Since the western countries have decided that colonialism isn't worth the candle, there won't be any foreign troops marching on Peking today to lift any siege of the embassies. But Mao is going to get it in the neck from the rest of China, just as the dowager empress got it more than fifty years ago. You wait and see. "As Confucius said, the more it changes in China, the more it's the same thing. And any time you want some more parallels, my boy, just come to me."

Marcia Jane VanFossen, William Thompson Wed

MRS. WILLIAM ALAN THOMPSON

Miss Marcia Jane VanFossen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. VanFossen, McConnelville, and William Alan Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Thompson, Route 3, Circleville, were united in marriage 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

The Rev. Lowell B. McCoy, Cincinnati, performed the double ring ceremony in the Stockport Methodist Church before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli, palms and candelabra.

Vocalists were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton John, Chesterhill, accompanied by Mrs. Martha Wood and Mrs. Philip Drake, organist, of Zanesville.

Escorted to the altar by her father the bride wore a floor length sheath gown of pure silk linen. The empire bodice was accented by an applique of Venice lace and seed pearls. The lace was repeated at the sleeve edges, at the hemline of the gown, and on a panel the full length of the removable chapel train, which fell from the shoulders. The headpiece, which held her veil of illusion was made and designed by the bride. It also featured Venice lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white fuji mums and baby's breath. With her bouquet she carried a 100-year-old handmade lace handkerchief given to her to be used on her wedding day.

Mrs. Bob Christian, West Helena, Ark., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth Baker, Southington, Kappa Phi sister of the bride, and Miss Susan Kienle, Wilmington, cousin of the bride. They wore identical gowns of soft sage green crepe, styled with empire bodices trimmed with dark sage green velvet ribbon, gold and green handmade leaf bows and matching velvet streamers. Their headpieces, also made and designed by the bride, were rings, featuring the same gold and green trim as their gowns with small veils of illusion. They carried cascade bouquets of bronze and gold pompon mums.

Best man was Ben Downing, Phoenix, Ariz. Seating the guests were Bob Schunn, Wilmington, Del., and Harold Metzger, Lithopolis.

Mrs. VanFossen, chose for her daughter's wedding a pink crepe sheath dress with matching pink lace coat and pink accessories. She wore a pink tipped carnation corsage.

Mrs. Thompson was attired in a turquoise colored sheath dress, trimmed with lace and matching lace jacket and turquoise accessories. Her corsage was of turquoise tipped carnations.

A reception in the church social room followed the ceremony. The table which held the tiered wedding cake was decorated with sage green net over a sage green tablecloth. Green punch carried out the color scheme.

Hostesses for the reception included Mrs. John Fisher, McConnelville; Mrs. Gary Stewart, Millersport; Miss Charlotte Pabal, Cincinnati; Miss Charlotte Matis, Zanesville; and Miss Tammy Medley, Stockport.

For a short wedding trip to eastern United States, the bride wore a navy and white sheath dress and jacket with navy accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Ohio University and is a teacher with the West Muskingum School District near Zanesville.

Mr. Thompson, also a graduate of Ohio University is presently employed as manufacturer's representative with Alfred Mainzer, Inc.

Out-of-town guests were from Arizona, Arkansas, Indiana, Delaware and from various cities in Ohio.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are residing at 2012½ Maple Ave., Zanesville.

Silver Market Is Settling After Price Speculation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The silver bonanza may soon be over.

That's what the government experts now foresee in the wake of a more settled market for silver following the price eruption last month.

Some speculators in silver certificates made windfall profits on the sharp rise in silver prices which followed the Treasury Department's abandonment of its policy of selling silver for $1.29 an ounce.

But no one became a millionaire and although there's more profit to be made the experts think the worst of the speculation is over.

The price of silver shot to more than $1.80 an ounce after the Treasury abandoned its $1.29 price in July. But the price is now below $1.70 and the government last Friday sold some for as little as $1.64½ an ounce. "The bonanza may be short-lived," one official said. "There's going to be plenty of silver to fill the need."

It's now anticipated both in and out of government that the price of silver will range between $1.50 and $1.75 an ounce over the next four to five years.

Inventories of silver users were described as "very fat" by one source and the government itself will pump about 13 million ounces into the economy this month through regular sales and redemptions of silver certificates.

The Treasury will continue to redeem silver certificates—one form of paper money issued between 1929 and the early 1960s—through next June 24 at the rate of $1.29 an ounce. This silver can, in turn, be sold at the market price.

Sewing Club Meets in Beckman Home

Silver Market Is Settling After Price Speculation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The silver bonanza may soon be over.

That's what the government experts now foresee in the wake of a more settled market for silver following the price eruption last month.

Some speculators in silver certificates made windfall profits on the sharp rise in silver prices which followed the Treasury Department's abandonment of its policy of selling silver for $1.29 an ounce.

But no one became a millionaire and although there's more profit to be made the experts think the worst of the speculation is over.

The price of silver shot to more than $1.80 an ounce after the Treasury abandoned its $1.29 price in July. But the price is now below $1.70 and the government last Friday sold some for as little as $1.64 1/2 an ounce. "The bonanza may be short-lived," one official said. "There's going to be plenty of silver to fill the need."

It's now anticipated both in and out of government that the price of silver will range between $1.50 and $1.75 an ounce over the next four to five years.

Inventories of silver users were described as "very fat" by one source and the government itself will pump about 13 million ounces into the economy this month through regular sales and redemptions of silver certificates.

The Treasury will continue to redeem silver certificates—one form of paper money issued between 1929 and the early 1960s—through next June 24 at the rate of $1.29 an ounce. This silver can, in turn, be sold at the market price.

Sewing Club Meets in Beckman Home

The annual cooperative picnic of the Variety Sewing Club was held Monday night at Sycamore Lakes, home of Mrs. Charles Beckman, near Commercial Point.

Eleven members and one guest, Miss Melba Hogsett, attended.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Montford Kirkwood. The travel-time gift was won by Mrs. W. C. Sherten and presented by Miss Katherine Bockart.

Others present were Mrs. Leora Sayre, Miss Mildred Wolfe, Mrs. Manley Carothers, Mrs. A. W. Goeller, Mrs. Donald Wolf, Miss Mary K. Wolfe, and Mrs. Nelson Lape.

The next meeting will be Sept. 18, at the home of Miss Bockart in Grove City.

'68 Car Prices To Be Up, Auto Executive Predicts

CHICAGO (AP) — Lynn Townsend, chairman and chief executive of Chrysler Corp., said today that 1968 model automobile prices will be higher regardless of the outcome of negotiations between automakers and the United Auto Workers.

Townsend spoke to newsmen at the national news preview of Chrysler products for the 1968 season. He said the rise in costs of materials, labor and added equipment for safety left manufacturers with no choice other than to hike prices.

"There seems to be little doubt that most automobile prices will be increased this fall," he said.

"Every company in our business has been fighting for many years against the increasing pressures of material and labor costs, without fully recovering these costs through any significant increases in the prices of their products.

"A company like ours has no other choice than to make some increases in its new car prices," Townsend said.

Chrysler and the other members of the Big Three offered the UAW a package contract proposal Tuesday that the companies say would boost wage benefits alone by 33 to 51 cents an hour. The Big Three's offer was estimated unofficially as a 5.25 per cent increase over the current provisions, but neither side confirmed this.

John J. Riccardo, a Chrysler vice president, told the newsmen the company is investing $300 million for the 1968 models which include newcomers in the compact and intermediate lines.

He said the Chrysler line will have 13 new safety items to go with the 14 safety innovations introduced on last year's models.

Little Town Of Red Lion 150 Years Old

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—The little town of Red Lion is observing the 150th anniversary of its founding this week but its observance of a sesquicentennial is a bit different than most towns usually have. There just isn't any.

The men of the town did not grow beards. The women aren't wearing old-fashioned hoop-skirt dresses. There are no booths selling soft drinks and there will be no parade with old time automobiles.

In the first place, Red Lion has a population of only 160. It has no sidewalks. The center of the town is the intersection of Ohio routes 122, 123 and 741 and traffic coming from five directions poses a problem.

Also, if there were a parade of any length part of it would be out of town while forming in order to parade into town. Red Lion was founded in 1817 by Abner Crane. It originally was called West Field but the name was changed to Red Lion in recognition of the old Red Lion Stage Coach Tavern which burned down and never was rebuilt.

Excessive Film Violence Disturbs Youthful Mind

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In "The Dirty Dozen," a squad of American soldier-felons pours gasoline into an underground shelter to incinerate a hundred Nazi officers and their women.

In "A Fistful of Dollars," Clint Eastwood picks a quarrel with four town toughs, then plugs each of them off a fence, like targets in a shooting gallery.

In "Beach Red," a Marine sergeant and a Japanese captain engage in a jungle duel in which the arm of one is broken by a rifle and the stomach of the other is sliced with a knife.

Such scenes typify the new cycle of film violence that has caused concern in some circles, especially during this violent summer. In seeking causes for recent racial riot, a New York Times survey of psychiatrists and psychologists cited among conditions adding to the mood of unrest:

"The accentuation of violence by television, films, newspapers and magazines, and particularly the impression this makes on children."

Dr. Lewi Austad, executive clinical director of the California Educational Center for the Emotionally Disturbed, says: "There can be no doubt that violence in movies and on television can be very disturbing to the youthful mind, especially of the nonaverage type. "Impressions of violence can lead to imitative behavior, just as the popularity of 'Superman' contributed to an increase of accidental suicides of children who thought they could fly like him."

Movie reviewer Bosley Crowther of the New York Times recently wrote: "By habituating the public to violence and brutality—by making these hideous exercises into morbid and sadistic jokes, as is done in 'The Dirty Dozen'—the films of excessive violence only deaden their sensitivities and make slaughter seem a meaningless cliché."

The National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures, successor to the Legion of Decency, condemned "Beach Red" with the comment: "In attempting to explore the inhumanity of war, this film is self-defeating because its repetitious emphasis on the realistic detail of carnage and its degrading treatment of women are themselves inhuman."

Influential Martin Quigley Jr. editorialized in Motion Picture Herald: "Today, on TV and in too many films, killings are piled on killings, new and extraordinary means are found to kill and maim. An appeal is made to sadism and perversity. 'But worst of all, life so often is shown to be 'cheap,' to be expendable at the will or whim of the hero—or antihero, as the case may be. Killing the adversary is the easy way out, the almost inevitable solution. Morality and respect for human dignity hardly count."

How did movies get this way? The cause may well be attributed to James Bond, who caught the public fancy with a new kind of cool killing. A flood of imitators followed, with even more variations of torture and brutality.

The success of the Clint Eastwood films, especially in Europe, has impelled other makers of Westerns to attempt new violence. "The Dirty Dozen" expects a U.S. gross of $20 million to $25 million.

Depiction of violence in films once was governed by stringent principles in the industry's self-censorship code—"Action showing the taking of human life is to be held to a minimum. Brutal killings are not to be presented in detail. Revenge in modern times shall not be justified."

But the advent of Jack Valenti as president of the Producers

Association swept away the old code except for a few generalities. The new provision reads: "Detailed and protracted acts of brutality, cruelty, physical violence, torture and abuse shall not be presented."

The man who applies this yardstick is Geoffrey Shurlock, code administrator. Says he: "You treat violence as you do profanity and drinking—each picture has its own guidelines. As the story merits violence, we approve it."

Shurlock doubts the theory that violence on the screen inspires viewers to actual violence. Instead he sees violence as a release for frustrated energies.

"For psychiatrists to blame the movies for what happened in Detroit is nonsense," he says. "If the Negroes who rioted this summer had more time and money to go to movies, they wouldn't have rioted. I think it's significant that there wasn't a movie theater in Watts when the riots took place there. "I hate violence myself. But as long as the public accepts it, I will have to approve it in films."

Cornel Wilde, who directed and starred in "Beach Red," denied that his film was excessively violent.

"It is less violent than a James Bond or a Matt Helm picture," said Wilde. "What I did was a very realistic and highly subjective film about war. It would be foolish to depict a war without violence. But I didn't inject violence gratuitously."

Robert Aldrich, who directed "The Dirty Dozen," rejected the notion that the violent nature of the film is the reason for its success.

Said he: "I think we gauged more accurately than most film makers the rejection of authority in this country. That's what the picture is about."

License Tag Tax Is Inescapable

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If your county decides to impose the additional $5 license tag fee approved by the legislature in a series of permissive taxes, you can't escape it by getting your license in a county not having the tax, the state registrar of motor vehicles said today.

Registrar Fred Rice said the present plan is to allow a motorist to buy his tags where he pleases, but the 800 deputy registrars in the state will be furnished a list of the counties that have enacted the extra $5 tax. If the car owner's home county has adopted the extra $5, Rice said, the motorist must pay the tax regardless of where the purchase is made.

North American Gets Government Contract

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — North American Aviation, Inc., has received a $50 million contract from the Naval Air Assistant Command to continue development of the sophisticated air-to-surface Condor missile, the office of U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young reported Wednesday. The allocation will permit the Columbus plant of North American to develop missiles that can be launched and tested. It started work on the project in April 1966.

Ohio Cities May Be First To Levy License Tag Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The legislature gave counties first crack at the extra $5 motor vehicle license tag fee but cities, which can't adopt it before June 30, may preempt the local field.

That prospect stems from the tax bonus in politics, bulging balances in local road and street funds and red tape in the new permissive tax package on the way to the governor for signing into law.

The act requires commissioners in counties imposing the fee, atop the state $10 tag tax, to file a certified copy of their approved resolution with the state motor vehicle registrar by Jan. 5 of the registration year beginning the following April 15.

As a regular legislative enactment, the act becomes effective 90 days after signing into law instead of immediately as

Every Pilot Has Ambition To Ring 100 Mission Bell

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—In the dimly lit, night-club-style officers' club at Korat Air Force Base hangs a bell which every pilot flying over North Vietnam has an ambition to ring.

When it clangs through the mess and the pilot yells "Drinks all around" it means he has joined the exclusive 100-mission club.

He can relax. No more briefings. No more flak. No more MIGs.

He has finished his tour. He's going home.

Many pilots don't live to ring the bell.

Some, like Karl Richter, tried to ring it twice.

Fellow fighter pilots say Lt. Richter had ice water for blood. He was shot down last month on his 198th mission. He had applied to fly 100 more from South Vietnam.

There are six other bases in Thailand similar to Korat where the pilots have similar customs and face similar dangers.

But the names of the bases—Utapao, Takhli, Udorn, Ubon, Nakorn, Phanom—are unlikely to become household words and be talked about for deeds in the Vietnam war.

A tight security ban on news reporting from the bases has robbed the 40,000 Air Force men in Thailand of the satisfaction of seeing their part in the war recognized publicly.

The United States has lost more than 650 aircraft over North Vietnam. Over half came from Thai bases. More than 400 F105s have been shot down over North and South Vietnam. Most of these, too, came from Thai bases.

But the exploits of the pilots, apart from summaries given out at daily briefings in Saigon, are barely noticeable in accounts of the war.

"We're not glory hunters," said one Air Force pilot. "But it burns us up when we're shouldering the biggest part of the load and we don't get credit for it."

"We go out day after day at heavily defended targets and no one says anything—unless it is 'Stop the bombing.'"

"But the Navy goes out and drops a couple of 500-pound bombs and they make big headlines."

"You'd think we weren't in the war."

Despite grumbles, the morale of the fighter and fighter-bomber pilots is high.

The atmosphere among them is always tense.

They all know that the guy who sits next to you at breakfast may be shot down this afternoon—and, as happened in May, paraded through the streets of Hanoi before a jeering crowd of North Vietnamese.

Time Clock Gets Rough Treatment

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—That time clock recently installed in the basement of City Hall has not been well received by city employees.

It was installed so that elevator operators and custodial employees could punch in when they come to work and when they leave.

The same day someone literally punched the clock in the face, breaking the glass. After that it didn't keep time very well. And it didn't make much of an impression on the time cards.

Now comes word from Building Commissioner Kenneth Brown that repairmen have found more evidence that someone doesn't like the timepiece. Brown said battery acid has been poured into the mechanism.

Prominent Philadelphia Woman Killed

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Police have launched an investigation into what they called the "horrible homicide" beating of a 74-year-old Delaware and Philadelphia society matron.

Mrs. Katherine Thompson Wood was found beaten Wednesday in her secluded home at nearby Pennsbury Township. She was the sister of James Thompson, the Thailand silk magnate who disappeared last March in Malaysia.

Police said Mrs. Wood was hit on the head with a blunt instrument. The body was discovered on a bed.

Two big watchdogs were standing by. An officer said one of the dogs may have been struck by the same weapon that killed Mrs. Wood, but otherwise there was no indication of why they did not prevent the crime.

A domestic reporting for work Wednesday found the body.

Investigators said they have not found the weapon or a motive for the killing.

Mrs. Wood was listed in "Who's Who in Delaware" and the Philadelphia Social Register.

The World Today

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Congress eventually votes an income tax increase it will be from conviction that the chronically borrowing U.S. economy can't stand competition from a government trying to float $29 billion in loans in a single year.

This technical, banker-like argument—more than fear of inflation or appeals to back the Vietnam effort—is the one apparently having the most impact on the House Ways and Means Committee as it continues its hearings on President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal.

The argument gains force from a painfully practical demonstration last year of what happens when money gets tight—when the demands for credit by the government and the millions of individual and corporate borrowers press against the national total of savings and bank funds made available through the Federal Reserve System.

Interest rates soared. Worse, credit for some purposes simply dried up. Small businesses got elbowed aside in the scramble for loans and one big, basic business—housing—suffered as higher interest rates offered elsewhere lured away saver's funds from the institutions that traditionally finance home building.

Unemployment in the building trades went up and industries associated with construction took fright. Students seeking government-backed college loans found banks uninterested.

Congressmen heard plenty from affected constituents and they haven't forgotten.

So, for many of them, the prospect of the government, faced with a deficit on the order of $29 billion, having to go into the still not-too-easy market and soak up that much credit is simply not to be contemplated.

Those who continue to oppose Johnson's proposals usually take one of two positions.

One is that the government could cut spending enough to bring the deficit down to manageable proportions—nobody thinks it can be erased—without a tax increase. At least, those who take this line insist, no tax increase should be voted until the administration has done much more budget-cutting than has yet been undertaken. A manageable deficit has been estimated at $10 billion to $15 billion.

The other main alternative offered to Johnson's program is to demand tax reform, loophole closings to raise more revenue without imposing a greater burden on all taxpayers. Many, of course, call for a combination of tax reform and spending restraint.

To all this administration spokesmen say the government is making an all-out effort to cut spending but there is no realistic possibility of reducing it enough to substitute for a tax increase.

As for tax reform, they have promised to send a bill to Congress later this year, after the increase measure is out of the way. The need for more revenue, they insist, is immediate while loophole closing, which calls into action the last ditch defenders of every loophole, is a long and painful process.

Big Poverty Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, urged the Senate Wednesday to take action on the administration's tax-increase proposal before any more appropriations bills are passed.

He criticized the Labor and Welfare Committee for adding $3 billion to an antipoverty measure for which President Johnson sought $2 billion.

Lausche told the Senate that increasing antipoverty funds "merely sharpens the desire of the rioters to get more money out of the federal government."

tax and appropriation acts.

Officials explain that enactment does not impose any taxes but only gives local governments power to levy a one-fourth percent "piggyback" sales tax, really transfer tax and to tax utility bills.

But after the act takes effect, county commissioners must hold two public hearings after advertising them in newspapers of general circulation within the county. Time limits for the ads and hearings are specified.

The act also sets out the method of seeking a popular referendum on tag tax resolutions, which cannot become operative until the issue is finally resolved.

All of which makes the Motor Vehicle Bureau filing date difficult if not impossible to meet, officials assert.

If counties fail to levy the $5 fee by June 30, cities which do so will preempt that field to the exclusion of the county. If counties impose the tag fee, cities cannot enact an additional fee but must share revenues in proportion to city-county car registrations. All license tag fees are earmarked for road and street work.

A report by the Ohio Public Expenditure Council shows road and street fund balances in Ohio cities and counties up 13.6 percent for the calendar year ending last Jan. 1.

"It seems apparent," Council Executive Director Charles A. Calhoun said of the report, "that if the present trend continues, many counties and cities would have no need to levy an annual $5 license tax to provide additional road and street funds."

And sentiments expressed so far by commissioners indicate they may be apprehensive over political consequences of an additional local tax at the time of rising state and federal levies.

Two of the three commissioners in each of Ohio's 88 counties will be up for election next year.

In the fiscally happier days of 1962 and 1963, there was an effort to combine reforms with a tax cutting measure. The arguments over reforms stretched out interminably; one by one they were dropped, and the bill that finally passed had practically nothing in it but tax reduction.

Johnson's formula for handling the budget is to save some, tax some and borrow some. More and more, the argument in Congress appears to be not so much whether to accept or reject the formula, but in what proportions to spell it out.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is on vacation.

The petunias were planted here by the Roundtown Snackers 4-H Club in May as a club service project. The club's members are all residents at the Children's Home. Pictured are: Diana Strous, Linda Dollison, Deena Strous and house mother, Mrs. Judson Price.

There are bright flowers by the thousands blooming at the Pickaway County Children's Home on Route 22. They are mostly old fashioned flowers like zinnias and petunias and four o'clocks, but there are many of the newer varieties of the old flowers.

Now you might think that thousands of flowers would be over-powering, but this is far from true. The building itself is so large and the shady grounds so extensive that the thousands of flowers are merely bright accents.

Mrs. Judson Price, the house mother, says the girls are quite interested in the flowers. The two circular flower beds which embellish the lawn formed by the half-moon drive are full of petunias.

The Roundtown Snackers 4-H Club planted the petunias. This 4-H Club draws its membership from girls living the Pickaway County Children's Home and this was their club service project.

FOUNDATION planting on either side of the front steps consists of flowers too. To the south tall zinnias (shaggy modern variety) are blooming along with four o'clocks, red salvias, verbenas of all hues and an edging of the new violet allysum. Along the foundation to the north are salvias, ageratum, zinnias and four o'clocks.

Flower boxes along each side of the front steps are filled with Blue Lace and white petunias. These were grown from seed by Mrs. Price — who incidentally has a very green thumb. Hybrid petunias with their almost microscopic seeds are difficult to raise from scratch.

Boys mow the lawn. This is not considered a chore, but fun. The Children's Home has a riding mower.

The big trees include many fine hard maples, a locust, several elms (one of which is an excellent specimen) a mulberry, a lovely ash and a giant oak. Metal benches are placed here and there in the shade and make splendid places for conversation or just daydreaming.

Actually there was no time for daydreaming Saturday morning when we visited the home. Girls were busy waxing the dining room floor.

We asked "Mom" Price about the edging of zinnias along the half moon drive. It could have taken a couple of hundred packets of zinnia seeds. Mrs. Price however is a seed-saver. The entire planting came from Mrs. Price's saved seeds.

WE ASKED if all the girls knew weeds from flowers. Mrs. Price said they did. But she laughingly remembered when one boy happily riding the mower cut the peonies off to the ground.

The boy told her not to worry that they'd grow again. And they did and the peonies are better than ever.

However, Mrs. Price who loves working with flowers manages to do quite a lot of the weeding herself.

The garden editor was extremely interested in the choice of flowers that Mrs. Price and her girls had managed. All were flowers that had been loved and grown in the early part of the century. Even the circular flower beds embellishing the front half moon were in keeping with the architecture of the building.

The mail box is along the drive and back of it is a big specimen of pampas grass, also a favorite with late Victorians and early 20th century gardeners.

Judson Price has his grandmother's apple butter kettle. He forged a tripod for it and now it is filled with plant material.

EDGING OF ZINNIAS — A row of brightly blooming zinnias borders the horseshoe driveway in front of the Children's Home on Route 22. Picking some of the hundreds of flowers are Marilyn Valentine (left), Linda Leach (center) and Vickie Hitch (right). Largest and best of the flowers will be saved for seed stock to be used next year.

Centering the old container is gold fleck plant. Around this are planted poinsettia, lush wandering Jew and portulaca. Mrs. Price may bring this container indoors for the winter.

TO THE north of the home and slightly to the rear is a little rock garden already there when the Prices arrived. And Mrs. Price added to it by contriving a pool out of an old sink. This she painted blue and placed marbles of many colors in the bottom. She and the youngsters all like this little pool. The paint is flaking off now, but Mrs. Price is going to try to find some swimming pool paint (it won't take more than a cup full).

While Mrs. Price and the girls are taking care of the flowers in front what are the boys doing? They are raising vegetables in back but that is next week's story.

And although Mrs. Price is hoping that some day some service organization will provide perennial material like evergreens for the foundation planting and peonies for edging the drive, she still loves the flowers. And certainly no plant material could be more in keeping with the 1902 architecture of the Children's Home than the bright annuals which Mrs. Price and the girls grow from seed the matron saves from year to year.

Jones Pond Setting for Water Pageant

The tenth annual Labor Day water pageant will be presented at the Jones pond at 3 p.m. Monday. Everybody's invited to attend the performance.

This year the pageant will be entitled "It's About Time" and will follow the general theme of the popular television series by that name.

Rehearsals are being held each day of the week preceding the performance.

Swimming instructors Mrs. Harold Moss and Miss Kathy Macklin will direct the pageant as well as perform in it. A cast of about 75 swimmers will take part.

A BASKET picnic in the Jones woods will follow the pageant. Spectators are asked to bring lawn chairs.

Lavender Roses Gain Popularity

Last fall, rose experts at the regional convention in Columbus were singing the praises of a new lavender rose that was to appear on the market. It was Lady X.

This year still another lavender rose is in its ascendancy. It is Intermzzo, a hybrid tea which grows only 2-3 feet high.

We understand that the Fred Edmunds catalogue features this rose in color.

The garden editor has it in her collection of lavender roses.

LOCAL Rosarians may be interested in the description of this rose found in the Tillitson catalogue. Tillitson's is a nursery featuring old roses, but they also list selected modern roses in their attractive yearbook entitled "roses of Yesterday and Today."

Of Intermzzo the yearbook says, "A new hybrid tea, silvery-lavender rose from Spain introduced in this country by Fred Edmunds of Oregon, well known as an accurate judge and purveyor of exhibition type roses. I've had plants of it from William Kordes in my nursery for three years. So impressed am I by the excellent form of the 40 petaled blooms, the beautiful uniform color under all weather conditions and the stocky, sturdy plants that I am glad to be able to offer now to you for your gardens."

For the most part lavender roses are muddy colors leaning towards a magenta or raspberry. Visitors seeing Intermzzo often exclaim, "There's one that's really lavender!"

Mrs. Randolph Wolfe of Parkview Ave. is well known for her love of flowers and her ability as an arranger. It is she who is responsible for the charming bouquets that "just happen" to be there when her grange meets. Not too long ago it was an arrangement of sunflowers that took everybody's eye.

And speaking of sunflowers Mrs. Willison Leist has a big plant with just about a hundred bloom on it. It looks like a sunflower tree, against her candle shop.

Some people like sunflower plants to have one big flower. And I think when growers are interested in the sun flower seed harvest a single flower with an enormous center is best. But just for attractiveness give me a plant like the Leist's. Incidentally they live at 360 Watt St.

Mrs. Charles Flemming, who was flower show head at the Pickaway County Fair, is telling everybody here and now that sunflowers will again be featured in the horticultural division of the 1968 show. The classes for sunflowers at this year's show included Red, Teddy Bear and Large Type. So when you order your spring seeds bear this in mind.

Dick Robinson, 103 Reber Ave., laughed when I asked to see his rose garden. He said he had taken his best roses to the office to show off and at the time I called his garden was just not full of bloom at all.

We asked Dick Robinson what his favorite rose was and he said that Tropicana put on a magnificent performance in his garden.

We wanted Handy Hatfield to see some specimens of a new lavender rose, Lady X, so we dashed over to Goode's Nursery to take him three fine blooms.

One day I discovered a man there with the mowing machine. It was a resident of the neighborhood who had just grown tired of seeing the knee-high weeds.

My civic pride was stirred and I had a little chat with the mayor about the situation. Service departments of cities, just like families can sometimes find themselves with too much to do. Mayor Gordon had received other complaints and assured me that the grass there would be kept cut.

Fertilize Lawns in Fall

John C. Fulner, lawn expert, says that lawns should be fertilized in the fall. He maintains that fall is the most important time of year for grass because of the warm days and cool nights. They present ideal growing conditions.

He advocates a lawn fertilizer that contains iron with a balance of food value such as 24-6-6. This gives grass the nutrition it needs to develop.

Fall growth is slower which allows nutrients to thicken grass by sending out tillers (outside shoots). Fulner says that in the fall growth is towards thickness and root strength rather than height.

Even nature is helpful. Weeds lessen their growing process and this allows the grass to grow without too much competition.

And next spring weeds won't be able to get started because a thicker lawn won't allow them to get started.

Dear Abby: 96 Pounds Equals Ton of Trouble

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Thru a club my husband and I belong to I recently met a handsome, young, unattached man I'll call Randy.

First, let me tell you that I'm 5 feet, 1 inch, weigh 96 pounds, am bow-legged and have no figure to speak of. I am not witty or cute, or anything special. Take my word for it, I'm not being modest.

Anyway, this Randy person always greets me with outstretched arms, a big grin, and a compliment. He has told me I'm sweet, adorable, desirable, and 96 pounds of woman! I know he's feeding me a line, but after being married for 9 years to a man who has never given me a compliment, it's delicious.

When Randy could have any woman at the club — single or married — what in the world does he want with me?

YOUNG AGAIN
DEAR YOUNG: He may want 96 pounds of (married) woman but I doubt that he wants the ton of trouble that would come with the deal in this case.

DEAR ABBY: Will you settle an argument for us? Do you think women dress to please men or to please other women?

TWO WOMEN
DEAR WOMEN: Which women? Some women dress to please men in general. Other women dress to please their boyfriends or husbands, specifically. Still others dress in the latest fashions because they want to be "in." (They please only the merchants.)

The wisest woman of all knows what looks best on HER and she wears it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, living on a limited income. A neighbor of mine (and her children) are always asking me to buy tickets, chances, greeting cards, etc.

I simply can't afford to buy things I neither need nor want just to please her, but I am running out of excuses. The last time I refused, she told me I was "unneighborly."

Abby, I feel it is unneighborly of her to keep pestering me and putting me on the spot. I don't enjoy refusing to buy. It's necessary. What is your opinion?

CAPTIVE CUSTOMER
DEAR CAPTIVE: When you are asked to buy something you don't need and can't afford, simply say you can't afford it, and that should be the end of it. If you offer "excuses" instead of reasons, you'll continue to be pestered.

Flowers Brighten View At Local Children's Home

PETUNIA BED — Three girls and their house mother at the Pickaway County Children's Home look the round petunia bed over to see if it needs weeding. And next spring weeds won't be able to get started because a thicker lawn won't allow them to get started.

Later when Handy and his mother, Mrs. Darrell Hatfield came to visit us I was not especially proud of the roses. Although I have 30 roses the bloom is so sparse that I embellished the garden with a statue of St. Francis of Assisi. For some reason the addition of the statue makes the rose garden sort of cemetery-like. Think I'll have to call in an expert on garden design!

The Hatfields liked another lavender rose better. It was Intermzzo, a hybrid tea. They thought its color was true and pure. This rose came from Tillitson's in Watsonville, Calif.

Mrs. Paul Bowers of Thacher has a delightful specimen of pink hibiscus in front of her vegetable garden.

Mrs. George Macklin of near Laurelville has a dooryard garden at the entrance of her home where all sorts of annuals bloom. Almost stealing the show, for me at least, are the asters.

These lovely annuals are often called China asters. But I do not know why. William Moody who lives at the trailer court near Adelphi is said to have a planting of flowers which is quite beautiful. His balsum is particularly eye-catching. But all the flowers are well grown and lovely.

The little grass triangle at the end of E. Franklin St. has worried me considerably this season because of its unkempt condition. Ordinarily this would not happen but I pass this triangle each time I come to town.

One day I discovered a man there with the mowing machine. It was a resident of the neighborhood who had just grown tired of seeing the knee-high weeds.

My civic pride was stirred and I had a little chat with the mayor about the situation. Service departments of cities, just like families can sometimes find themselves with too much to do. Mayor Gordon had received other complaints and assured me that the grass there would be kept cut.

If some organization wants a civic project this little triangle would be a good one. It is on one of the main thoroughfares that leads into Circleville.

Judson Price says the boys at Pickaway County Children's Home are watching their pumpkin crop with considerable interest.

The more the merrier as far as the audience is concerned for the annual Labor Day pageant at the Jones Pond. The garden editor plans to tidy up her garden so when you're there do take a look at flower garden too.

Skandha Staff Readying Book

By BRENDA MILLS

Under the supervision of Pat Pontious and Janice Perdon, co-editors the members of the Logan Elm Skandha staff are busily preparing for the 1968 edition of the yearbook. Starting Aug. 14 students began selling patron ads and ads to local businesses.

Selling advertising has not been the only method of raising money. The staff members sponsored a bake sale Friday. On Sept. 2 starting at 9 a. m. they are having a car wash at Joe Jenkins Sunoco Service Station, W. Main St.

Black Power Not Problem, Lindsay Says

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York thinks there is more talk than truth about the black nationalists' part in this summer's racial disorders.

"There is more talk of it than proof of it," the Republican mayor said Wednesday after a quick tour of Cincinnati. "Maybe there are black nationalists in the poverty program, but if there are, they are not transferring their militancy to street action, to riots."

Lindsay and Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., visited Cincinnati's West Endland Avondale section on a fact-finding tour as members of the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders. They also met with local officials. Both declined to comment on their impressions of Cincinnati, which had several outbreaks of racial trouble this summer.

Lindsay left with a warning that "no city, no suburb, no small town" should consider itself immune from possible racial violence.

Police Seek Gunman In Cincinnati Holdup

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police are looking for a young white gunman who took about $2,300 from a suburban loan company Wednesday after locking a teller in the vault.

Mrs. Katherine Schott told police the bandit entered the Keystone Savings Association office in North College Hill, showed her a gun and demanded money.

Youth, 13, Drowns

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — A 13-year-old youth drowned Wednesday in Lake Erie where he had been fishing in a boat off Locust Point Beach north of Oak Harbor.

The victim was Dennis K. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, of Millbury.

Band Practicing For Fall Schedule

By LORNA POLING

The Logan Elm High School Marching Band started practice Aug. 21, under the direction of Miss Susan Hoffhines. Besides playing for home football games the band will play at some of the away games plus playing at Pumpkin Show and at a Rodeo in Columbus.

For the first game the band will bring back memories of the "almost past" summer by playing "Summertime," "Those Lazy Hazy Crazy Days of Summer," "Itsy Bitsy Teeny Weeny Yellow Polka Dot Bikini," "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" and "Try to Remember."

LBJ Can Be Defeated, Paper Says

BOSTON (AP) — The Christian Science Monitor says there is serious anti-Johnson sentiment in the United States and "much of it is found in the Democratic ranks."

The paper said Wednesday that a survey it took shows that President Johnson "definitely can be defeated" if he runs for reelection in 1968.

In a copyright story by a Washington correspondent, Godfrey Sperling Jr., the newspaper said a state-by-state survey of political writers indicated there are 28 states—with 322 electoral votes—in which the President is "definitely vulnerable" now.

In another 16 states—with 156 electoral votes—he is "possibly" to "moderately" vulnerable.

Only in six states—with 50 electoral votes—was "little" or "no" vulnerability found, the newspaper said.

The Monitor, which describes itself as politically independent, said President Johnson was vulnerable on four points: handling of the Vietnam war; rioting and the rising crime rate; the proposed income surtax and rising cost of living; irregularities in the antipoverty program.

Columbus Child Dies

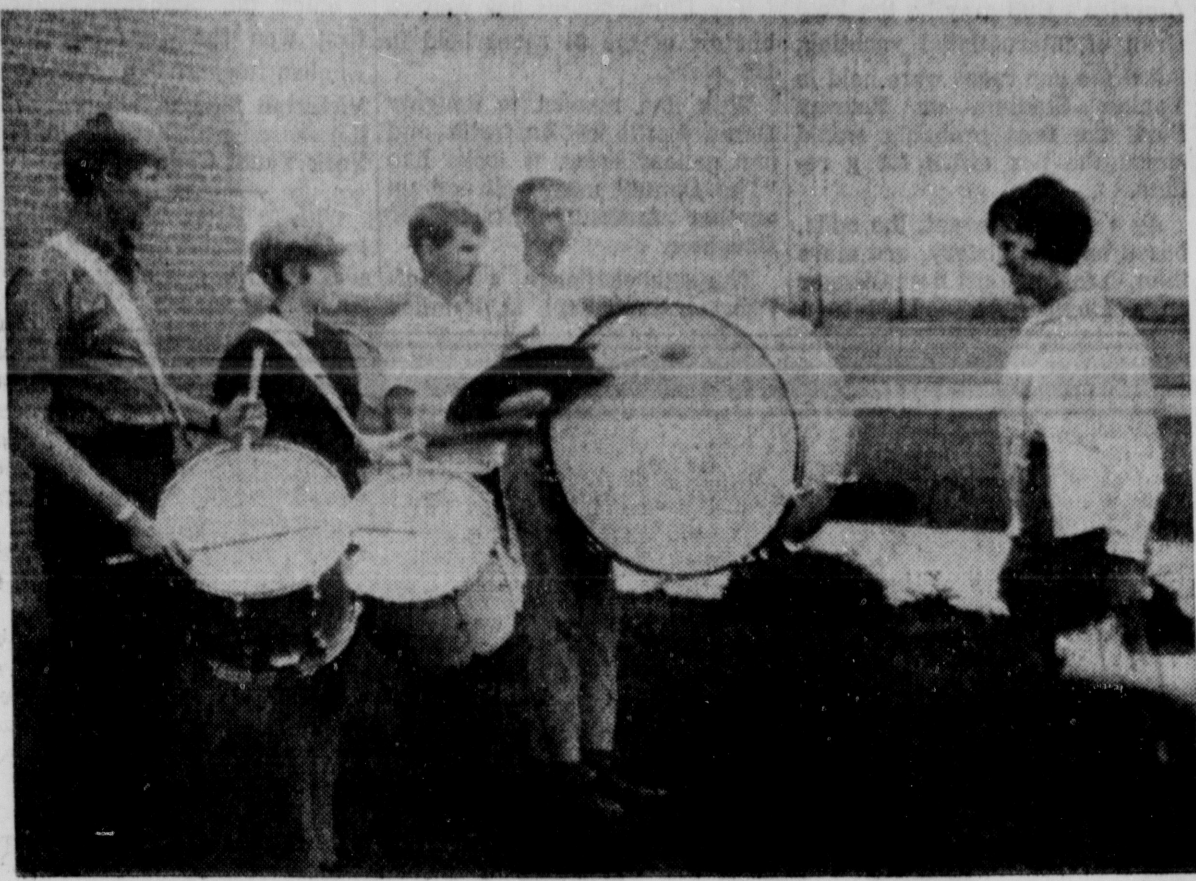

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 3-year-old boy was dead on arrival at Columbus' Riverside Hospital Wednesday night. Authorities reported that the boy, Tracy Curry, may have choked to death on a piece of potato at dinner.

Freedom Eyed For Watchdogs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The City Council wants to make it legal for a watchdog to bite a burglar.

Under the present law all dogs who bite people must be banished from the city.

A new law being considered would let a dog bite a trespasser or anyone who was assaulting the dog's owner. The dog also could be excused for biting someone in self-defense or accidentally. And if he was a very small dog there would be no penalty.

Restoration has begun in the Assembly Room of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, scene of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence and Constitution of the United States.

State, Local Spending To Increase Steadily

WASHINGTON (AP) — In three years state and local governments will be spending $103 billion annually, or as much as the federal government spent three years ago, figures under congressional study indicate.

The total is likely to go to $119 billion by 1975, one study shows.

These figures are part of three volumes of materials gathered by a Senate-House economic subcommittee looking into future revenue needs, including a controversial proposal for sharing federal tax collections with the states.

The studies point up some facts often overshadowed by mounting federal budgets:

—State and local units still pay for the bulk of domestic civilian services.

—From 1955 to 1965 state and local general expenditures increased more than twice as fast as general federal expenditures, and state and local government employment went up 58 per cent, compared with a 9 per cent increase in federal employment.

—State and local taxes more than doubled during the period, from $23.5 billion to $51.2 billion, while total state and local intake, including federal aid and borrowings, went from $36.4 billion to $81.3 billion.

The economists who contributed to the study did not agree on the tax outlook. One estimate was that existing taxes, operating on a growing economy, would provide enough funds unless significant additions to state and local services were decided on.

Others said more revenue, either from state taxes or a federal share, would be needed. Expanded use of state income taxes was mentioned often.

The sharply increased workload of state and local governments since World War II was attributed in large part to the shift of population to cities, cutting in half the number of farms.

The facilities and services rural people do without, or provide for themselves, are in general those paid for by state and local governments—city sewerage, sidewalks, street lighting, traffic control, health inspections, for example. Rising living

Wife Arrives, Husband Dead

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A young wife was on her way to Hawaii to meet her Marine husband ending a hitch in Vietnam. She got as far as the airport.

A voice over the airport public address system called Mary Link, 21, to the information desk. A Marine captain approached her.

"As soon as I saw his face I knew that Ray was dead," Mrs. Link said.

Capt. Edward Conte broke the news. Her husband, Raymond, 22, a sergeant, was killed Monday in a Viet Cong raid on his helicopter base near Da Nang.

Speedy Streak Victorious; Cameron Avoids Accident

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Del Cameron held his two fingers about an inch apart and declared, "I missed being knocked completely out of the race by this much."

Cameron won his third Hambletonian—the premier stake for 3-year-old trotters—Wednesday with Speedy Steak. The victory over 11 others came in successive 2:00 and 2:01 heats before 25,000 screaming fans in the belated race at the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds.

In the first mile heat, Speedy Streak beat Keystone Pride by four lengths, one of the biggest winning margins in the 10 years the Kentucky Derby of harness racing has been in Du Quoin.

"In the back stretch of that heat," Cameron disclosed, "Armbrist Harold missed by an inch of locking wheels with me. There was a lot going on behind me at the time and if we had locked, it would have been disastrous. We would have been knocked out of the race. It gave me a scare."

Speedy Streak, barreling along from the outside in the stretch, won the second heat and the trophy by one length over the filly, Speed Model.

Speedy Streak was bought for a record standard-bred yearling auction price of $113,000 by Kenneth D. Owen of Houston, C. F. Gaines of Sherburne, N.Y., and John R. Gaines of Lexington.

The victory was worth $60,098 and boosted Speedy Streak's total earnings to $94,779. He will try to surpass his price tag at Indianapolis next week.

Keystone Pride took second money of $30,049 with a second and third finish. Speed Model, 7-2 was third for $14,423 and Halifax Hanover, 3-4, fourth for $9,615.

The heavily-favored Dazzling Speed, reined by Dancer, was fifth with 4-11 for $6,009.

Al Balding was the only Canadian in the recent U.S. Open. He replaced Pete Brown who left the scene to hurry home to be with his son who was injured in an auto accident.

Australians To Challenge U.S. Yacht

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The America's Cup may be the Holy Grail of international yachting, but if the cup races were held in Yankee Stadium or Fenway Park the fans probably would storm the box office for a refund.

As a sporting event, the odds, based on past history, are more than 10 to 1 against a challenger on a single race and 20 to 1 against winning the cup.

The United States has won all but six of the 64 races held in 116 years.

With due respect to doughty Dame Pattie of Australia and her gallant crew, it looks like "The Dame" may well end up another Australian sheep for slaughter.

The 20th challenge, a best-of-7 series, starts Sept. 12, 10 miles

at sea from this famed resort.

Since the schooner America first won the cup against an English fleet in 1851, the ornate Victorian pitcher has never left the sacred precincts of the New York Yacht Club.

With 32 lettermen for football, Purdue has the most letter winners returning among Big Ten teams this season.

In the first mile heat, Speedy Streak beat Keystone Pride by four lengths, one of the biggest winning margins in the 10 years the Kentucky Derby of harness racing has been in Du Quoin.

"In the back stretch of that heat," Cameron disclosed, "Armbo Harold missed by an inch of locking wheels with me. There was a lot going on behind me at the time and if we had locked, it would have been disastrous. We would have been knocked out of the race. It gave me a scare."

Speedy Streak, barreling along from the outside in the stretch, won the second heat and the trophy by one length over the filly, Speed Model.

Speedy Streak was bought for a record standard-bred yearling auction price of $113,000 by Kenneth D. Owen of Houston, C. F. Gaines of Sherburne, N.Y. and John R. Gaines of Lexington.

The victory was worth $60,098 and boosted Speedy Streak's total earnings to $94,779. He will try to surpass his price tag at Indianapolis next week.

Keystone Pride took second money of $30,049 with a second and third finish. Speed Model, 7-2 was third for $14,423 and Halifax Hanover, 3-4, fourth for $9,615.

The heavily-favored Dazzling Speed, reined by Dancer, was fifth with 4-11 for $6,009.

Al Balding was the only Canadian in the recent U.S. Open. He replaced Pete Brown who left the scene to hurry home to be with his son who was injured in an auto accident.

Australians To Challenge U.S. Yacht

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The America's Cup may be the Holy Grail of international yachting, but if the cup races were held in Yankee Stadium or Fenway Park the fans probably would storm the box office for a refund.

As a sporting event, the odds, based on past history, are more than 10 to 1 against a challenger on a single race and 20 to 1 against winning the cup.

The United States has won all but six of the 64 races held in 116 years.

With due respect to doughty Dame Pattie of Australia and her gallant crew, it looks like "The Dame" may well end up another Australian sheep for slaughter.

The 20th challenge, a best-of-7 series, starts Sept. 12, 10 miles

at sea from this famed resort.

Since the schooner America first won the cup against an English fleet in 1851, the ornate Victorian pitcher has never left the sacred precincts of the New York Yacht Club.

With 32 lettermen for football, Purdue has the most letter winners returning among Big Ten teams this season.

Abernathy Saves Pappas' 14th Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — It's hard to see how the Cincinnati Reds could expect to win baseball games these days without Ted Abernathy.

The lanky reliever did it again Wednesday night. He went in with one out and two men on in the ninth inning and preserved the Reds' 2-1 victory over Philadelphia.

The victory tightened the Reds' hold on second place, sent the Phils down to fourth and gave Abernathy his third official save of the week for a total of 21.

"That was what you really could call a save," Manager Dave Bristol said later. "He did it without any parade this time."

"Dear Abbie" got the call after Milt Pappas walked Tony Gonzalez and then gave up a single to John Callison. That sent Gonzalez to third base.

Pappas had retired the Phils' leadoff batter. Abernathy ended the game by striking out Bill

Inexperienced Line Shown In Tiger Grid Scrimmage

Inexperience in the offensive line was the main concern of Circleville High School football coaching staff at the Gahanna-Lincoln High School scrimmage Wednesday afternoon.

Assistant football coach Dick Fisher reported that "Circleville's defense looked good and did a good job of containing their (Gahanna's) offense . . . but our offense lacked consistency."

Coach Fisher stated the Tigers were having trouble sustaining a drive.

"The offensive line had trouble with blocking, especially in pass protection," Coach Fisher said.

RICK Sims, a junior candidate for quarterback, piloted the team in the place of Bob Tootle who was shaken up last week. Sims saw limited action last year but may see a bigger career this year.

"We were also hurt by penalties," Coach Fisher related. "And they were due to the inexperience of a few boys."

A scrimmage Friday with Logan has been cancelled and the Tigers have not lined up another pre-season opponent.

Blue Lions Score Seven In Scrimmage

Washington C. H. had a hey-day with Tecumseh High School football team, racking up seven touchdowns to none Wednesday afternoon.

The Blue Lions of the South Central Ohio League posted three scores in the first 15 minutes while in the same period Tecumseh never passed their own 30 yard line.

Everyone was scoring on the Lions' team. Even a linemen got into the act, picking off a wobbly pass and trotting into the end zone.

Defense looked good, holding the big Tecumseh team scoreless.

MIAMI Trace shut out Wellston, one touchdown to none, Wednesday. The Panthers were a much improved ball team, especially on defense.

Two TD's for Miami Trace were erased when ball carriers fumbled going into the end zone.

Browns Set Big Test for Newcomers

CLEVELAND (AP)— Coach Blanton Collier would like to see his Cleveland Browns win an exhibition game Saturday night after four straight losses, but he will have other things on his mind which could be more important than winning or losing against Green Bay.

The game will give Collier his last opportunity to look at some of his new players before making some big cuts.

There are 50 men on the roster now. One must go before the game Saturday and six more will have to go by Monday, with the deadline for the final cut to 40 coming a week later.

It's a perennial problem but compounded this year by several factors.

"We are about two weeks behind because of late arrivals, injuries, Army training and so on," said Collier.

The coach said he has made up a number of tentative rosters but nothing is definite.

The team has 23 defensive players, including eight linemen and nine defensive backs. Some newcomers who have looked good and are likely to survive the cuts include linebacker Bob Matheson, Jack Gregory and Gene Jackson. Also looking good are George Youngblood, a second-year man from Los Angeles, and Ben Davis, one of the brightest of the rookie defensive backfield prospects.

There are 25 offensive players, including three quarterbacks, six receivers, 10 linemen and six running backs. Two kickers, Lou Groza and rookie Don Crockett, round out the squad.

Parking Plans Made for CHS Grid Games

Parking situation for this year's Circleville High School home football games will be basically the same, according to Don Poling, athletic director.

Fans will be parking on the south and west sides of the high school building. Parking attendants as well as police officers will be on hand to direct the flow of traffic.

Upon leaving the area, motorists wishing to turn left off Clark Drive onto Nicholas Drive are asked to move to the left-hand lane as Clark Drive will be made one-way. Those wishing to turn right onto Nicholas Drive will stay in the right-hand lane.

Noel's Wins, 11-6, In Softball Tourney

Noel's King Boy posted its second win in a row in the Greenfield independent slo-pitch softball tourney Monday, dropping Springfield Local, 11-6.

The winners picked up 12 hits. Chet Iery Sr., winning pitcher, gave up seven safeties.

Next contest is 5 p.m. Sunday against an unnamed opponent.

Nicklaus Wins $50,000 Prize

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is generally conceded to be the greatest golfer in the world, he is on the road to being the richest and most successful, yet there is one battle he hadn't won.

That's the battle with Arnie's Army.

Big Jack, after pocketing the $50,000 first prize Wednesday in the $250,000 Westchester Classic, insisted that he didn't let the army bug him too much, but he left his listeners wondering.

"Aw, I'm getting used to it — it's really quite comical," Nicklaus said. "I'm out there to play golf. I try to concentrate and ignore them."

The army, with banners and lungs at top mast, was out in force at the Westchester Country Club for the final round of the world's richest event which presented Nicklaus, Palmer and Dan Sikes in the final and featured threesome.

Nicklaus stood off a late rush by Sikes, 36-year-old Jacksonville, Fla., law graduate and Player Committee chairman, to win his fourth tournament of the year by a stroke.

Jack had a 72-hole score of 272, 16 under par, while Sikes, who twice pulled out and started home but came back when rain washed out the rounds Saturday and Sunday, was runner-up at 273.

Rallying from three shots back, Sikes caught Nicklaus with successive birdies at the 11th and 12th but fell back after landing in a trap at the 15th and failed to tie it with a bold 15-foot putt that hit the cup and stayed out at the final hole. He collected $30,000.

The rest of the leaders looked like a who's who of golf with Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, the British Open king, third at 274; Gary Player of South Africa, fourth at 275 and Palmer, with a birdie at the final hole, fifth at 276.

Palmer's fabled army—a stampeding, yelling pack cut from the cloth of the boisterous New York Mets baseball fans—trampled behind their hero and cheered every swing. They groaned in agony when Nicklaus and Sikes picked up strokes.

"I don't appreciate this sort of stuff either," Palmer said afterward. "It's all right when they cheer for somebody. But when they start cheering against players, I think it's bad."

Indians Lose in 12th, 6-5; Umpire Says Tribe Stalling

KANSAS CITY (AP)—It took 12 innings and nearly four hours for the Cleveland Indians to lose a 6-5 decision to the Kansas City Athletics Wednesday night, which proves that the Indians are not intimidated by umpires.

Following the 10-inning game Tuesday night which required four hours and 18 minutes for the Tribe to beat the A's, the Indians drew a blast from umpire Larry Napp, who complained that they were taking too much time and accused them of stalling.

The game Monday night in which the Indians also beat the Athletics went 11 innings and four hours and one minute.

Napp ejected Cleveland Manager Joe Adcock in the sixth inning of Tuesday night's game after Adcock had complained about one of George Culver's pitches being called a ball.

Later Napp was quoted as saying he just wanted Adcock out of the game because he "was stalling too much."

Indians General Manager Gabe Paul followed up Napp's blast with a telephone call to American League President Joe Cronin "to alert him to the situation."

"He (Napp) just made a mistake. . . certainly we all want to speed up the games, but not as the expense of winning," Paul said.

Adcock also denied stalling.

"I'm only interest in winning and anything I've done or will do has been to win," he said.

Wednesday night, the Athletics won on Danny Cater's fifth hit which scored Mike Hershberger from third.

Hershberger had opened the 12th with a double and Ramon Webster was walked intentionally. Then Jim Gosger laid down a bunt, but pitcher Steve Hargan threw late to third trying to force Hershberger. That loaded the bases and then Cater followed with his winning single.

Cleveland took a 5-4 lead with two runs in the seventh. Hargan singled in the tying run and then scored on a triple by Vic Davalillo.

U.S. Amateur To Open Again

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The nation's best play-for-fun golfers, stymied by rain, wind and flakes of snow Wednesday, tried again today to play the first round of the 67th U.S. Amateur championship over the mountain-shadowed Broadmoor west course.

U.S. Golf Association officials called off the first round Wednesday just as the threesome with defending champion Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ontario, stepped to the soggy first tee.

Thirteen threesomes, among the 150 players, had sloshed through their 18-hole round before the postponement. The best score was a 71 by Bill Harvey, Greensboro, N.C.

Illinois and Minnesota have 15 football lettermen returning.

Cardinals Still Winning; Red Sox Open AL Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They're touting Orlando Cepeda for the National League's Most Valuable Player award, but Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente isn't making it easy for the St. Louis Cards' star to win his first National League batting championship.

Clemente is a three-time winner of the batting crown. Cepeda never has won it, but he's driving toward the top just as the Cards are moving swiftly toward the pennant.

Cepeda collected three hits as St. Louis downed the New York Mets 2-0 Wednesday night. Clemente had two safeties, including a two-run double, that helped Pittsburgh down Atlanta 11-9. In other games, Cincinnati downed Philadelphia 2-1, Los Angeles trounced San Francisco 9-3 and Chicago defeated Houston 4-1.

In the American League, Boston edged New York 2-1 in 11 innings, Baltimore beat Minnesota 4-2 in 10 innings, Kansas City tripped Cleveland 6-5 in 12 innings, Chicago defeated Washington 5-1 and California edged Detroit 3-2.

Clemente's hits enabled him to increase his league-leading batting average one point to .348. Cepeda's three safeties, though, hiked his mark three points to a runner-up .343.

Tim McCarver also starred for St. Louis. He drove in both runs with his 12th homer and a sacrifice fly. Larry Jaster and Ron Willis combined to limit the Mets to four hits.

Willis relieved Jaster after Bob Johnson walked with one out in the ninth inning and retired the next two batters. Rookie Danny Frisella was the losing pitcher. The triumph enabled the Cards to maintain their 10-game lead over second-place Cincinnati.

Matty Alou, the defending batting titleholder, and Willie Stargell also helped the Pirates down the Braves. Alou collected four hits in five tries lifting his average to .328. Stargell walloped a two-run double and his 18th homer.

Home runs by Felipe Alou and Joe Torre had helped the Braves build a 6-4 lead, but Pittsburgh came back in the fourth and regained the lead on Clemente's two-bagger.

Pete Rose drove in the winning run for Cincinnati with a bloop double in the sixth inning that scored Tommy Harper. The blow broke a 1-1 tie. John Briggs homered for Philadelphia's only tally.

Lou Johnson and Ron Fairly each drove in three runs for the Dodgers against San Francisco. The Cubs exploded for all their runs on four singles and an error in the sixth inning against Houston.

The Astros led 1-0, but Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams hit consecutive singles in the sixth for one run. An infield out, an error and Randy Hundley's single accounted for three more.

In the American League, Boston edged New York 2-1 in 11 innings, Baltimore beat Minnesota 4-2 in 10 innings, Kansas City tripped Cleveland 6-5 in 12 innings, Chicago defeated Washington 5-1 and California edged Detroit 3-2.

Clemente's hits enabled him to increase his league-leading batting average one point to .348. Cepeda's three safeties, though, hiked his mark three points to a runner-up .343.

Tim McCarver also starred for St. Louis. He drove in both runs with his 12th homer and a sacrifice fly. Larry Jaster and Ron Willis combined to limit the Mets to four hits.

Willis relieved Jaster after Bob Johnson walked with one out in the ninth inning and retired the next two batters. Rookie Danny Frisella was the losing pitcher. The triumph enabled the Cards to maintain their 10-game lead over second-place Cincinnati.

Matty Alou, the defending batting titleholder, and Willie Stargell also helped the Pirates down the Braves. Alou collected four hits in five tries lifting his average to .328. Stargell walloped a two-run double and his 18th homer.

Home runs by Felipe Alou and Joe Torre had helped the Braves build a 6-4 lead, but Pittsburgh came back in the fourth and regained the lead on Clemente's two-bagger.

Pete Rose drove in the winning run for Cincinnati with a bloop double in the sixth inning that scored Tommy Harper. The blow broke a 1-1 tie. John Briggs homered for Philadelphia's only tally.

Lou Johnson and Ron Fairly each drove in three runs for the

Buffalo Backfield Good But Injuries Hurt Line

BLASDELL, N.Y. (AP) — Coach Joe Collier of the Buffalo Bills deliberately created one hole in his defensive line, but he didn't count on the two holes that were created in his offensive line.

Collier opened up the defensive hole by trading end Tom Day to San Diego for running back Keith Lincoln. He did it because he wanted greater depth in the backfield and he felt Remi Prudhomme could step in for Day and do a good job.

He lost some offensive line depth, however, when guard Billy Shaw and split end Bobby Crockett, both starters in 1966, were injured. Shaw tore ligaments in his right leg in the team's first scrimmage and Crockett did the same thing in the team's first exhibition game.

Shaw is expected back for the second half of the season, but Crockett is lost for the year.

Collier filled Crockett's spot with less trouble than he took care of Shaw's. The Bills had acquired receiver Art Powell in a four-player, three-draft-choice trade with Oakland, and he stepped right into the job.

To fill Shaw's spot, however, Collier had to switch tackle Steve Barber to guard and move rookie Gary Bugenhagen to left tackle.

"Barber's job isn't as difficult as Bugenhagen's," Collier explained. "Barber has seen the position for four, five years, and he knows how the man next to him has worked. Bugenhagen, on the other hand, has had to learn a lot."

These have been Collier's major problems as he prepares the Bills for a run at a fourth consecutive Eastern Division championship. No other American Football League team ever has achieved that feat, and Collier is well aware of it.

"It gets tougher every year," said the second-year coach. "It looks like Miami and Denver will be tougher this year, and they could play a bigger part in determining the champion. We have to stay up for the teams that were down last year and avoid losing to them."

Even if the Bills' offense can't insure that, the defense should be able to. There's none better in the league, from front to back.

Prudhomme is the only newcomer to the line-up, joining end Ron McDole and tackles Jim Dunaway and Tom Sestak in the front four.

The linebackers are certainly no strangers to each other. John Tracey, Harry Jacobs and Mike Stratton will go into the season having started 73 consecutive games together.

The secondary consists of cornerbacks Tom Janik and Butch Byrd and safeties Hagood Clarke and George Saimes.

The addition of Lincoln fortifies the offensive attack since the former all-star can go either at halfback or fullback and very likely will share duties with Bobby Burnett and Wray Carlton.

Jack Kamp is back at quarterback although he's being pushed this year by Tom Flores rather than Daryle Lamonia. Those two switched uniforms in the same trade that brought Powell to the Bills. Kemp's receivers, besides Powell, will be flanker Elbert Dubenion and tight end Paul Costa.

If this attack can bring the Bills another title, Collier will have equaled the record of his predecessor, Lou Saban, who won two straight division crowns.

And Saban, interestingly, is now at Denver, one of those teams from which Collier expects trouble.

Limit of 10 Established For Walleyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new daily bag limit of 10 walleyes will go into effect Friday in all waters in Ohio, including Lake Erie, Wildlife Chief Dan Armbruster said today.

Armbruster said "the statewide bag limit was necessary in order to preserve the walleye spawning runs in the Sandusky River, and the well-established run in the Mahoning River below Berlin Dam.

"The 10-fish daily limit," according to Armbruster, "will also control the taking of large numbers of young walleyes such as occurred in recent years in Hoover and Mosquito reservoirs."

The Wildlife Division also reported a new regulation prohibiting the taking of blue pike (blue walleye) by sport and commercial fishing from Lake Erie, Sandusky Bay and Maumee Bay.

The blue pike is believed to be in danger of extinction and recently was added to the list of endangered species by the Interior Department's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Views on Television—Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

Hartman and his late wife, Grace, were for years a popular vaudeville and nightclub attraction as a comedy ballroom dancing team. In the late Depression days, the hilarious Hartmans starred in one brief televised whirl around the dance floor at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York—which was seen by technicians at the National Broadcasting Co. studios two blocks away and by the owners of perhaps 200 experimental sets around town.

Hartman also was the star of a short-lived local television series, "The Hartmans at Home," which was shot live in the days when "the lights were so hot that you could only work under them three or four minutes without getting blisters." His timing—in achieving fame and fortune—was off there, too, as it turned out to be in the halcyon days of Uncle Miltie. Paul played the father in a thoroughly forgettable situation comedy, "Pride of the Family." Nobody won on that one—not even Natalie Wood who played his daughter and who subsequently made a movie splash.

Hartman, now in the late 50s, returns this year to television. Cast as a comedy Mr. Fixit on CBS's "Andy Griffith Show," the actor-comedian-dancer now has his biggest chance. It was "The Andy Griffith Show" that spun Don Knotts off on a stellar movie career, and also tossed Jim Nabors into his own CBS niche with "Gomer Pyle."

Hartman has made a specialty of character parts since the popular dance team broke up more than a decade ago—they were divorced a few years before Grace Hartman's death. But since he was born into a theatrical family, he accepts change with stoic philosophy. Paul Hartman's father was the producer-director-star of his own Wset Coast troupe and his mother was its leading lady. Paul remembers that as a youngster, his father took the troupe to the Orient for a couple of years after motion pictures started to become popular—"to wait it out until the craze died away."

The company's comedian was a roly-poly young actor named Roscoe Arbuckle. Paul and his younger brother, Ted, amused themselves playing hide-and-seek with him, and were very disappointed when he finally ly left them to seek his fortune in Southern California's infant film industry. There, of course, he became famous—and notorious—as Fatty Arbuckle.

"Show business is so different," Hartman said, obviously without any regret. "Once Grace and I could spend the whole year in one place—New York—just playing the Plaza, the Waldorf and the St. Regis for weeks at a time. The most traveling we did was by taxi. We'd play one supper club for as long as 16 weeks, and there would be one or two other acts."

"Now there are practically no dance teams left. You play a room for one or two weeks and since you are the only act, you stay on too long. Vaudeville, of course, is dead, so it's tough for the newcomers."

Hartman is an easy-going fellow who has been stranded in so many strange places, including the Far East for two years, that he refused to worry about the future.

He is established in a Pacific Palisades apartment, has four dozen dress shirts and a half-dozen full dress suits—his dancing uniform in moth balls, and is prepared to relax in the country-cousin atmosphere of the Griffith show.

"If it doesn't work, something else always comes along in this business," he said. "But I sort of like the idea of doing this for a while."

PROBATE COURT NOTICE

All interested parties are hereby notified that the following Guardians, Administrators and Executors have filed their accounts in the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio:

No. 21750 Louisa A. Griffey and Robert H. Huffer, Guardians of Thomas F. Griffey, a minor. Second Partial account.

No. 22632 Lemuel B. Weiden, Auxiliary Administrator of the estate of Thomas W. Sweeney, deceased. First and Final account.

No. 22492 Lawrence W. O'Day, Executor of the estate of Gladie Arilla O'Day, deceased. Final and Distributive account.

And that said accounts will be for hearing and settlement before this Probate Court on Monday, September 25th, 1967, at 9 o'clock A. M. Exceptions to said accounts, if any, must be filed herein on or before September 19th, 1967.

Buffalo Backfield Good But Injuries Hurt Line

BLASDELL, N.Y. (AP) — Coach Joe Collier of the Buffalo Bills deliberately created one hole in his defensive line, but he didn't count on the two holes that were created in his offensive line.

Collier opened up the defensive hole by trading end Tom Day to San Diego for running back Keith Lincoln. He did it because he wanted greater depth in the backfield and he felt Remi Prudhomme could step in for Day and do a good job.

He lost some offensive line depth, however, when guard Billy Shaw and split end Bobby Crockett, both starters in 1966, were injured. Shaw tore ligaments in his right leg in the team's first scrimmage and Crockett did the same thing in the team's first exhibition game.

Shaw is expected back for the second half of the season, but Crockett is lost for the year.

Collier filled Crockett's spot with less trouble than he took care of Shaw's. The Bills had acquired receiver Art Powell in a four-player, three-draft-choice trade with Oakland, and he stepped right into the job.

To fill Shaw's spot, however, Collier had to switch tackle Steve Barber to guard and move rookie Gary Bugenhagen to left tackle.

"Barber's job isn't as difficult as Bugenhagen's," Collier explained. "Barber has seen the position for four, five years, and he knows how the man next to him has worked. Bugenhagen, on the other hand, has had to learn a lot."

These have been Collier's major problems as he prepares the Bills for a run at a fourth consecutive Eastern Division championship. No other American Football League team ever has achieved that feat, and Collier is well aware of it.

"It gets tougher every year," said the second-year coach. "It looks like Miami and Denver will be tougher this year, and they could play a bigger part in determining the champion. We have to stay up for the teams that were down last year and avoid losing to them."

Even if the Bills' offense can't insure that, the defense should be able to. There's none better in the league, from front to back.

Prudhomme is the only newcomer to the line-up, joining end Ron McDole and tackles Jim Dunaway and Tom Sestak in the front four.

The linebackers are certainly no strangers to each other. John Tracey, Harry Jacobs and Mike Stratton will go into the season having started 73 consecutive games together.

The secondary consists of cornerbacks Tom Janik and Butch Byrd and safeties Hagood Clarke and George Saines.

The addition of Lincoln fortifies the offensive attack since the former all-star can go either at halfback or fullback and very likely will share duties with Bobby Burnett and Wray Carlton.

Jack Kamp is back at quarterback although he's being pushed this year by Tom Flores rather than Daryle Lamonica. Those two switched uniforms in the same trade that brought Powell to the Bills. Kemp's receivers, besides Powell, will be flanker Elbert Dubenion and tight end Paul Costa.

If this attack can bring the Bills another title, Collier will have equaled the record of his predecessor, Lou Saban, who won two straight division crowns.

And Saban, interestingly, is now at Denver, one of those teams from which Collier expects trouble.

Limit of 10 Established For Walleyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new daily bag limit of 10 walleyes will go into effect Friday in all waters in Ohio, including Lake Erie, Wildlife Chief Dan Armbruster said today.

Armbruster said "the statewide bag limit was necessary in order to preserve the walleye spawning runs in the Sandusky River, and the well-established run in the Mahoning River below Berlin Dam."

"The 10-fish daily limit," according to Armbruster, "will also control the taking of large numbers of young walleyes such as occurred in recent years in Hoover and Mosquito reservoirs."

The Wildlife Division also reported a new regulation prohibiting the taking of blue pike (blue walleye) by sport and commercial fishing from Lake Erie, Sandusky Bay and Maumee Bay.

The blue pike is believed to be in danger of extinction and recently was added to the list of endangered species by the Interior Department's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Views on Television—Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

Hartman and his late wife, Grace, were for years a popular vaudeville and nightclub attraction as a comedy ballroom dancing team. In the late Depression days, the hilarious Hartmans starred in one brief televised whirl around the dance floor at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York—which was seen by technicians at the National Broadcasting Co. studios two blocks away and by the owners of perhaps 200 experimental sets around town.

Hartman also was the star of a short-lived local television series, "The Hartmans at Home," which was shot live in the days when "the lights were so hot you could only work under them three or four minutes without getting blisters." His timing—in achieving fame and fortune—was off there, too, as it turned out to be in the halcyon days of Uncle Miltie. Paul played the father in a thoroughly forgettable situation comedy, "Pride of the Family." Nobody won on that one—not even Natalie Wood who played his daughter and who subsequently made a movie splash.

Hartman, now in the late 50s, returns this year to television. Cast as a comedy Mr. Fixit on CBS's "Andy Griffith Show," the actor-comedian-dancer now has his biggest chance. It was "The Andy Griffith Show" that spun Don Knotts off on a stellar movie career, and also tossed Jim Nabors into his own CBS niche with "Gomer Pyle."

Hartman has made a specialty of character parts since the popular dance team broke up more than a decade ago—they were divorced a few years before Grace Hartman's death. But since he was born into a theatrical family, he accepts change with stoic philosophy. Paul Hartman's father was the producer-director-star of his own West Coast troupe and his mother was its leading lady. Paul remembers that as a youngster, his father took the troupe to the Orient for a couple of years after motion pictures started to become popular—"to wait it out until the craze died away."

The company's comedian was a roly-poly young actor named Roscoe Arbuckle. Paul and his younger brother, Ted, amused themselves playing hide-and-seek with him, and were very disappointed when he finally ly left them to seek his fortune in Southern California's infant film industry. There, of course, he became famous—and notorious—as Patty Arbuckle.

"Show business is so different," Hartman said, obviously without any regret. "Once Grace and I could spend the whole year in one place—New York—just playing the Plaza, the Waldorf and the St. Regis for weeks at a time. The most traveling we did was by taxi. We'd play one supper club for as long as 16 weeks, and there would be one or two other acts."

"Now there are practically no dance teams left. You play a room for one or two weeks and since you are the only act, you stay on too long. Vaudeville, of course, is dead, so it's tough for the newcomers."

Hartman is an easy-going fellow who has been stranded in so many strange places, including the Far East for two years, that he refused to worry about the future.

He is established in a Pacific Palisades apartment, has four dozen dress shirts and a half-dozen full dress suits—his dancing uniform in moth balls, and is prepared to relax in the country-cousin atmosphere of the Griffith show.

"If it doesn't work, something else always comes along in this business," he said. "but I sort of like the idea of doing this for a while."

Westmoreland's Mother Leaves Large Estate

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The estate of Mrs. James R. Westmoreland, mother of the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, has been probated at a value of more than $250,000.
Court records show Gen. William C. Westmoreland's mother, who died at the age of 81 in July, willed her estate to him and to her daughter, Mrs. Heyward Clarkson of Columbia. The general's father, who was in the textile business, died in 1964 leaving an estate probated at $1.2 million.

Contractors Snub Public Jobs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We can't risk taking a job that might be held up," a spokesman said Wednesday in explaining why some Central Ohio electrical contractors are hesitant about bidding on public jobs because of fear of work stoppages by civil rights demonstrations and court injunctions.

"We're not in the contracting business for trouble. It's simply a matter of trying to stay in business," added Floyd McCarty, treasurer of the Central Ohio chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Association.
McCarty commented after it was learned that the Columbus Recreation Department had failed to obtain a single general contractor bid for a new swimming pool.

McCarty emphasized that the contractors' hesitancy to bid was not a boycott and not an attempt to balk civil rights demonstrations.
"We are wrong either way," he said, adding that when a contractor tries to comply with a governmental order by hiring outside his union contract, he breaches a contract that is legal and valid.

Failure of Negroes to apply for apprenticeships accounts in part for the fact that some craft unions have no Negro members, McCarty said.
Dr. David McConnell, chairman of the Columbus National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's Industry and Labor Committee, challenged McCarty's statement about a lack of Negro applicants.
He said the NAACP had told several employers' associations about a group of Negro youths seeking apprenticeships, but "none of the association's responded, including Mr. McCarty's."

McConnell, an associate professor of biophysics at Ohio State University and a onetime Retail Clerks Union organizer, said, "in the tremendous building boom the unions are limiting their memberships to maintain a superior bargaining position."

This has resulted in "inflated labor costs" that have been passed on to the taxpayers, he said.

Three Circleville men embarked Wednesday on an extended tour of Europe.
Otto Guenther, Ernil Stone-rock and Larry Mets will travel through Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Germany, Spain and Italy. The trio will tour the countries in a camper truck.
Setting sail from New York Sept. 1, the travelers will port in Gothenburg, Sweden. The trip will cover some 4,000 miles. They expect to return Nov. 1.

The Second Baptist Church, 130 W. Mill St., is celebrating its 111th anniversary. Special services are being conducted in connection with this event.
Missionary Society, Guild Girls and Sunshine Band, with the Rev. Harold Wingo and the choir from the Zion Baptist Church of Chillicothe participating on Thursday.
Sunday School Night will be observed Friday, with Rev. C. C. Allen and a choir from Columbus.
The special anniversary service will begin 3 p. m. Sunday. Devotionals will be in charge of the church officers. Selections will be presented by the Second Baptist Church Choir. Mrs. Robert Jones will read the church history. The anniversary sermon will be presented by the Rev. Elzey Jordan of Columbus. The choir from Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, Columbus, will also provide singing.
Closing words by Rev. Jordan will culminate the service.
